Laird's Vietnam Picture Gloomy

U.S. Pullout Seen As Impossible Now

. . . Until Hanoi's Troops Leave

Washington (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird reported Wednesday American commanders in Vietnam think all U.S. troops must remain there until all North Vietnamese troops withdraw.

Painting a generaliy gloomy picture of the Vietnam situation to the Senate Armed Services Committee, Laird declined to say if he agrees with that assessment, but told reporters: "I do not think there is a possibility for any troop withdrawals in any significant numbers today."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the committee, agreed but said he hopes military forecasts are in error. "If that's correct," he said, "we're there for a long, long time."

Stennis also moved to give proponents of the modified antiballistic missile program a psychological advantage by announcing Laird will discuss the controversial project at an open hearing Thursday.

"The positive side of the matter will be explained," Stennis said in announcing the Thursday session. Most members of the Armed Services Committee favor the project. But there are some vigorous foes on the Foreign Relations Committee.

Saigon's Job 'Monumental'

In his testimony, which was released at the start of the closed session, Laird predicted current enemy attacks in Vietnam are "destined for failure." But he conceded they could recur and warned that South Vietnamese efforts to assert national control face "monumental" difficulties.

Just back from an inspection trip to the embattled country Laird said the Nixon administration has "inherited a backlog of many years' accumulation of ground rules, operating procedures and unwritten understandings which multiply the complexities."

Laird asked for an additional $156 million to step up development of South Vietnam's army.

ABM Change Defended

In his first military posture report to Congress since assuming the secretaryship, the former Wisconsin congressman defended President Nixon's modified antiballistic missile defense system which he said "will be deployed in a manner clearly related to the emerging threat," a possible Red Chinese nuclear attack.

The switch from the Sentinel system of the Johnson adminstration, which would have defended cities as well as strategic bases, will result in a saving of $997 million in the rest of this year and the fiscal year starting next July 1, Laird said.

Altogether, he urged budget revisions calling for savings of $2.3 billion in funds to be appropriated by Congress but said actual savings in spending would be only about $500 million. Laird said also that his revised spending figures — $78.4 billion this year and $78.5 billion in fiscal 1970 — do not include the $2.5 billion cost of already enacted military pay raise legislation. Laird said he is dropping plans for an additional $1.2 billion military pay boost this year.

Besides the ABM, major cuts included $428.2 million in the halting of the controversial FB111 bombers in preparation for development of a new advanced manned strategic aircraft, $536.9 million because of an anticipated reduction in use of air and ground munitions in Vietnam and $156.9 million because of a slowdown in deployment of the Minuteman III intercontinental ballistic missile.

Increases recommended by Laird included $167.2 million for F111D tactical aircraft and $349.7 million to meet claims and increased costs in shipbuilding programs.

Conglomerates...

Further Mergers Disliked

Washington (AP) — The government's new antitrust chief is drawing a bead on the "super giants" he says would result from mergers of big conglomerate corporations.

"It is not our business who owns these corporations," Asst. Atty. Gen. Richard W. McLaren said in an interview. "But it is our business as to what kind of concentration of power comes out of a merger."

McLaren created a stir in the business world on taking office when he said he believed existing antitrust law gave the Justice Department ample weapons to attack conglomerate mergers.

Diversified Giants

These mergers join companies that are neither direct competitors nor in a supplier-customer relationship, resulting in enormous, diversified corporations.

McLaren also provided new hints on the kinds of conglomerates that will be the targets of antitrust suits.

His lawyers, he said, will definitely examine merger proposals involving any two firms that are among the nation's 200 largest.

He said there have been predictions that such consolidations, should they continue at the present pace, will result in a situation where just 100 companies will control all of the nation's manufacturing assets within a decade.

3 Further Tests

McLaren said he will apply three further tests in deciding whether to attack conglomerate mergers:

—Are the companies to be merged potential competitors?

—Are the firms in related product lines?

—Will the merger raise the possibility of reciprocal dealings, in which customers are favored with purchases?

McLaren said some of his views on antitrust enforcement stem from his work as counsel for a small business in Chicago.

"There's real room for companies like that," he said, "and Uncle Sam ought to be doing everything he can to see that they stay in business."

No Serious Flooding Anticipated

No serious or major flood conditions are anticipated in Nebraska from the current snowmelt, a spokesman for the State Civil Defense Agency revealed late Wednesday.

Ice jams are causing most of the flooding which at this time appears to be limited to lowland inundation, according to Harold Pickering. Officials of the State Civil Defense Agency conducted an aerial survey of the Platte, Loup and Blue River basins Wednesday, covering the entire southeast section of Nebraska.

An estimated 50 to 75 people were evacuated from their homes in the southwest part of Columbus Wednesday night to escape overflow waters from the ice-jammed Loup River.

CD Orders

The evacuation was ordered by civil defense authorities.

Following the evacuation, the Red Cross set up emergency headquarters in the Columbus City Auditorium and prepared to care for some of the evacuees. Others evacuated went to the homes of friends and relatives.

Columbus-Platte County Civil Defense Director Jack Bullington said the jam extended upstream from Loup River bridge about one-half mile southeast of the city.

Waters from the jam were flooding Pawnee Park and Lost Creek west of the city. The park area was covered with more than three feet of water. There had been no evacuations with the exception of the Country Club Inn at the junction of Highways 30 and 81.

Earl Neilsen of the Omaha District Corps of Engineers discounted the success of an attempt to dynamite the jam. He said he had never seen such action do any good in similar situations.

Another ice jam was reported on the Loup at Genoa. Some flooding was forecast for the south part of Monroe due to an ice jam at a Loup River bridge.

Highway 30 Closed

The high water closed U.S. 30 just west of the scales and the junction of U.S. 30 and 81 west of Columbus.

Local ice jams were also causing some slight overflow in lowlands in the Fremont area. This was being caused by the Platte River which was also jammed two miles east of Schuyler and one mile west at the bridge.

A better report came from Surprise, located on the north fork of the Big Blue River. It said the river was completely covered with ice but was falling.

Downstream at Ulysses, State Spur 315 was closed by the overflow.

Turkey Creek Up

Saline County sheriff's officials said Wednesday Turkey Creek was higher than the crest in June of 1967. Considerable lowland flooding was reported along the creek in the county. And Highway 15 south of Dorchester remained closed due to the rising creek.

At midday the Weather Bureau said Turkey Creek was up six to eight feet at Geneva and there was some lowland flooding. County roads east of Geneva were closed.

A ham radio operator said Turkey Creek inundated a county road west of DeWitt. The Big Blue was also over several county roads between DeWitt and Beatrice.

The Blue at Beatrice went up two feet overnight, with a reading 14.15 feet compared to flood stage of 16 feet.

Ice Jam Breaks

An ice jam on the Missouri near Blair broke loose Tuesday night and heavy floating ice was occurring at Omaha on down to Nebraska City.

Several crests occurred on the Little Blue Wednesday from Ayr to Fairbury due to ice jams. North of Deshler, State 5 was barricaded for the night due to high water from the Little Blue.

One bridge and county road south of Fairbury was inundated.

Civil Defense Agency officials said they are trying to encourage local authorities to keep an eye on their flood conditions and to endeavor to move the ice if they see jams developing.

SPRINGLIKE WEATHER MAY VISIT STATE LATE

Spring's official arrival is at 1:08 p.m. CST Thursday, but apparently Mother Nature is ignoring the calendar.

Cooler temperatures are forecast for Nebraska Thursday after a few days of springlike weather.

Late Wednesday light snow was falling at Sidney and across eastern Nebraska, including Lincoln. Broken Bow and Norfolk reported light sleet prior to the snow. A thunderstorm plus rain, fog and high winds also hit Norfolk.

$91 Million Sought For Improvements

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

Capital improvements expenditures of more than $91 million have been recommended by city departments for the next six years, according to the preliminary 1968-74 capital improvements program report made public Wednesday afternoon.

The report was unveiled at a City-County Planning Commission meeting, but commissioners decided to withhold discussion of the program until next Wednesday.

The expenditures recommended by the city departments total $22 million more than the $69 million preliminary program submitted to the Planning Commission last year.

The program includes proposed expenditures of $15,540,060 for 1969-70. Nearly half of the amount was requested by the Lincoln Electric System (LES) which plans to pay for the improvements mainly through utility revenue.

Biggest Portion

LES also is asking for the biggest portion of the $91,276,240 program, with a six-year request for $31.2 million.

The streets and highways division of the Public Works Department also requested a major share of funds — $25,065,000.

The streets and highways funds, totaling around $4 million a year, include money needed to pay for the northeast radial, Holdrege St. bypass and major intersection channelization.

The Public Works Department requested an average of $1.6 million a year to pay for the northeast radial — a $10 million project.

Money to pay for the two major street improvement projects is expected to come from state aid and revenue bonds.

Wheel tax funds will also be used to help pay for arterial street resurfacing, intersection improvements, channelization, street widening and signalization projects.

Many of the projects included in the overall program indicated financing to come out of general obligation bonds. Other projects requested indicate money to come from general revenue, revenue bonds, utility revenue and state and federal aid.

Election Bill Would Reduce Terms Of Lincoln Officials

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Legislation which would have the effect of reducing by one year the present term of Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf and four city council members will be subjected to public hearing Thursday at the Unicameral.

The bill, LB542, sponsored by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, would provide for future election of city and school district officials at state primary elections.

Municipal elections are now held in odd-numbered years.

Exemptions Urged

Amendments will be presented to the Government and Military Affairs Committee to exempt both Lincoln and Omaha from the change in election dates.

Carpenter said he will oppose such exemptions.

"I want everyone included," he said.

The bill is designed to reduce election costs and increase voter interest by combining municipal and school district elections with state primary contests in even-numbered years.

Under the proposal, Lincoln would elect a mayor and council members in May of 1970, instead of the spring of 1971.

The practical effect of such a change would be to reduce Schwartzkopf's current four-year term to three years.

Would Hit Four

Also affected would be Councilwoman Helen Boosalis and Councilmen Ervin Peterson, W. H. "Bill" Davidson and Tom Allman

LB542 would also have the effect of cutting from four years to three the terms of the three council members to be elected at this spring's city election. They would serve until the state primary election of 1972, instead of the spring of 1973.

Omaha's mayor and council members are similarly affected

All terms would revert to four years when city officials are elected in 1970 and 1972.

Should Be Glad

Carpenter said the officials should be glad to accept the reduction in their present term.

"It's been my experience that an elected official becomes less popular each year," he said. "They should be happy to go to the people after three years, instead of four."

In order to change the election dates to correspond to state primary elections, Carpenter noted, the present terms of city officials would have to be altered in some way. Personally, he said, he wouldn't object to lengthening them, rather than reducing them if that would be more acceptable.

Carpenter said he doesn't believe the bill would face constitutional questions as long as it is applied statewide.

Also scheduled for hearing is LB1294, an omnibus measure containing 57 pages of election law changes.

52 Persons File For City Primary

A total of 33 persons filed for nomination to the City Council in the April 8th primary by the filing deadline Wednesday. Six will be nominated for the May general election with three to be elected.

Ten candidates will vie for the four Board of Education ballot spots. Nine persons filed for the four Airport Authority nominations. Two will be elected to each group in the general election.

Ray To Seek Review Of Plea Of Guilty To Killing Dr. King

Memphis, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray says he plans to seek a review of his plea of guilty to the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., according to the judge who sentenced him to 99 years in prison for the killing.

Judge W. Preston Battle Jr. disclosed Wednesday that Ray had written to him from the Tennessee State Penitentiary. The judge said only that Ray wants a hearing and that he wrote that he has fired his lawyer, Percy Foreman of Houston, Tex.

Published reports say that Ray wants to withdraw the guilty plea and stand trial for first-degree murder.

Foreman Denies It

Foreman, in New York City, denied being discharged, saying his connectioon with the case "ceased at 12:35 p.m. on March 10," when Ray was sentenced following his guilty plea.

Ray had been scheduled to stand trial April 7, but, with a 99-year sentence prearranged by the state and Foreman, he switched his plea and began serving the sentence the following day, March 11.

Before accepting the plea, Battle emphasized that the action would close the door on appeal. Ray assented.

However, under Tennessee law, Battle retains jurisdiction in the case over a 30-day review period. Only after 30 days does the plea and sentence become final.

In New York, Foreman said he had expected Ray to try for a reopening of the case, "but in about a year or two."

Saying that he would decline henceforth to comment on the case, Foreman reiterated, "In my view, there was no conspiracy. In my view James Earl Ray decided, and he alone decided, to kill Martin Luther King so that he could claim the glory . . .

"I think that James Earl Ray was a racist. He thought he would be a hero. He completely misconceived the thinking of the white race," Foreman said.

He said, "I'm very happy to be out of it," and did not know who would now represent Ray. "I think that James Earl Ray enjoys the spotlight and any way he can keep the center of the stage he will do it." it."

Habeas Corpus

To get the case reopened, Ray would have to institute a habeas corpus action in which he would have to show his rights were violated when he entered the guilty plea.

Ray was quoted as telling officers who accompanied him from the Shelby County Jail here to Nashville that he now had second thoughts, wishing he had gone to trial and taken his chances on getting a life sentence.

Wednesday, the Memphis Press-Scimitar reported he now will seek to withdraw the guilty plea and go to trial as previously planned.

(C) New York Times News Service

Washington — In a carefully worded statement to the Senate Armed Services Committee, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said Wednesday he was accelerating the program to replace American soldiers in the war with South Vietnamese troops. However, Laird cautioned that he was not speaking of pulling out U.S. troops "at the present time." (Another story on Page 1.)

British Occupy Anguilla

Anguilla — Most of Anguilla's 6,000 inhabitants were asleep as 100 British paratroopers landed in a pre-dawn operation and seized control of the tiny island. (More on Page 2.)

Strife Not Tolerated

Karachi — The Pakistani government has announced that it will not "tolerate violence any further" in any part of the strife-torn country. Saigon — In a move to check an enemy threat to Saigon, 2,400 allied troops, moving in behind tanks and armored troop carriers, began a massive sweep through the French-owned Michelin rubber plantation at Dau Tieng, 40 miles from the South Vietnamese capital. There are believed to be two North Vietnamese regiments entrenched in extensive underground fortifications inside the plantation.

Statement May Affect Surtax

Washington — Economic observers in Washington feel Defense Secretary Laird's disclosure that only $500 million would be cut from defense programs in the new fiscal year will support an extension of the 10% income tax surcharge. This view is reinforced by recent statements of the secretary of the Treasury emphasizing the importance of a "substantial" budget surplus in the new fiscal year.

Tax Reform Proposals Unlikely

Washington — The Nixon administration will concentrate on the development of tax incentives designed to stimulate participation by private industry in programs such as job training and low-cost housing construction. Proposals to revise the tax law in a few areas will be forthcoming, but the administration feels it cannot prepare a full tax reform program in time for congressional consideration this year.

Eavesdropping Exemption Asked

Washington — Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold of the Justice Department has asked the Supreme Court to rule that wiretapping and other electronic eavesdropping by federal agents is not unconstitutional when used to gather "foreign intelligence information."

British Lion Subdues A Mouse That Roared

World News

Anguilla (AP) — The British lion, subduing a mouse that roared, took control of Anguilla Wednesday.

Nullifying the islanders' claims to independence, white troops made a bloodless invasion of this Caribbean island and installed a commissioner to rule in the name of Queen Elizabeth II.

A task force of paratroopers, marines and Scotland Yard detectives, numbering 135 men by official count, landed from warships and helicopters at dawn and more were to follow in an operation the British termed Calypso. Dispatches from London said people there were calling it the Bay of Piglets.

'Red Devil' Riflemen

Riflemen in scarlet berets of the Red Devil parachute regiment fanned across the island to check identifications of the 6,000 or so people, largely of African descent, and hunt for weapons.

The islanders were warned at gunpoint to stay near their homes. Weeping in some cases, they heeded the orders.

Bitterness was reflected however, in occasional chants for "black freedom." A group of young girls shouted: "White is no good. We want a black leader for black people."

Acting President Ronald Webster, who proclaimed Tuesday "we are prepared to fight," had abandoned the defiant posture later and appealed to his people to carry on without force if there was an invasion.

Webster called at British command headquarters and agreed to attend a formal meeting Thursday morning. Emerging, he was cheered by about 300 islanders. He told them there would be a demonstration Thursday afternoon against the British presence.

Later Webster made public a telegram to the British Foreign Office saying he would negotiate if Britain withdraws the invasion force and a diplomat sent with it to take over as temporary commissioner of the island.

British Cite Gangsters

Webster is a lean, intense, 43-year-old businessman whose administration was declared by some British authorities to have been under the influence of "gangster elements" seeking to set up gambling casinos and other facilities to lure American tourists to this scrubby, 35-square-mile coral outcropping 1,500 miles southeast of Miami.

A career diplomat, Anthony Lee, arrived with the troops to take up for the queen the reins of government once manipulated by Prime Minister Robert L. Bradshaw of the St. Kitts-Nevis-Anguilla federation, a British island grouping from which the Anguillans seceded in mid-1967.

The troops distributed leaflets asking the Anguillans for their cooperation and declaring Lee "comes as your friend."

'To End Intimidation'

"Our purpose is to end intimidation so that you can live in peace and express your opinions without fear," the leaflets said.

British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart took a similar approach before the House of Commons in London.

Britain is responsible for defense and foreign relations of St. Kitts-Nevis-Anguilla, he added, but "it is not our purpose to see the Anguillans living under an administration they do not want."

Former foreign secretary George Brown, a member of Stewart's own Labor Party, asked how Britain could justify invasion in rebel Anguilla and not in rebel Rhodesia, the central African territory which proclaimed its independence in 1965.

This point has bothered many Britons, concerned that Africans and Asians may feel Britain is willing to intervene against black rebel leaders who are militarily weak, as in Anguilla, but unwilling to do the same thing against white rebel leaders who are relatively strong militarily, as in Rhodesia.

NIXON SHAKES WITH 'BOY OF YEAR'

This is a closeup of the handshake between President Nixon and Perry Joseph Ludy, the "Boy of the Year," Wednesday at the White House. Ludy, 17-year-old-Negro from Oxnard, Calif., received a plaque saluting him as "typifying juvenile decency in action."

Da Nang Area Shelled

Saigon (AP) — Communist gunners hit the Da Nang area early Thursday, firing 21 heavy rockets into military positions and populated civilian zones, South Vietnamese headquarters reported.

It was the second consecutive day of rocket fire near South Vietnam's second largest city. On Wednesday, 10 rockets crashed into Da Nang itself, killing 14 civilians and wounding 24 persons.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said the shellings hit in five areas, including a prisoner of war camp.

The U.S. Command reported only that the Marble Mountain Marine air installation just outside Da Nang "received an unreported number and type of rocket rounds" in the early morning hours. Its account said there were "very light U.S. casualties, with no fatalities and no reported damage."

The shellings around Da Nang were among about 25 "enemy indirect fire harassing attacks" listed by military headquarters as the Communist spring offensive moved toward the end of its fourth week.

"Over-all casualties and damage were reported light," the U.S. Command said. "There were no reports of significant ground probes against U.S. forces."

On Wednesday, U.S. Marines beat back repeated assaults by 400 North Vietnamese in a paddy south of Da Nang. Some enemy troops carried flame throwers.

Two Democrats Vote Against OK Of Smith

Washington (UPI) —Five nominations for top policy-making positions in the Interior Department cleared the Senate Interior Committee Wednesday.

The vote on four was unanimous, but two opposed the nomination of James R. Smith of Omaha to be assistant secretary for water and power. Sens. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., and Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, voted against his nomination.

They said they were not satisfied with his answers to inquiries about his philosophy on the present practice of designating cooperatives and publicly owned power agencies as "preference" customers for buying federally produced electricity.

Neither Metcalf nor Gravel appeared to believe Smith would fail to receive Senate confirmation.

The main issue during Smith's session with the committee was his membership in the Mississippi Valley Association, a conservation organization which over the years has opposed the designation of preference customers for federal power. In his federal post, Smith would be responsible for implementing the preference policy.

Smith said the longtime policy of designating "preference" customers for federally produced electricity would be safe with him.

He assured some frankly concerned members of the Senate Interior Committee he is under no disposition to change the procedure by which first choice to buy power produced at federal dams is given to cooperatives and publicly owned utilities.

He was less specific on the government's responsibility for shipping the power to its preference customers.

Those, in addition to Smith, which the committee unanimously recommended be confirmed by the senate, included:

—Carl L. Klein, chairman of the Illinois Water Pollution and Water Resources Commission, to be assistant secretary for water quality and research.

—Hollis Mathews Dole, Oregon state geologist, to be an assistant secretary for mineral resources.

—Leslie L. Glasgow, director of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, to be assistant secretary for fish, wildlife, and parks.

—Mitchell Melich of Salt Lake City, Utah, former uranium industrialist, attorney, and once Republican national committeeman, to be solicitor for the department.

Female Cleaner Applicant Man

Wellington, New Zealand (AP) — When the Hawke's Bay Electric Power Board advertised for a "part-time female cleaner" recently, it got an unexpected reply — from a man.

He said his experience was limited, "but I consider a bath with plenty of soap and water the best method. I am sure a trial period would show I could get a female sparkling clean and I would take keen pleasure in the work and wages would be of minor importance."

He didn't get the job.

Segregationist Perez Is Dead

New Orleans (AP) — Leander H. Perez, 77, a unique swampland Caesar and fiery segregationist, died at his plantation home near here Wednesday.

Perez dominated oil-rich Plaquemines Parish (county) for over 40 years. He made millions in the process, but in recent years much of his energies went into the racial fight.

A blunt and frequently angry man, his long career included brisk battles with great corporations, his state, his nation, the Navy and his church.

He once said he would oppose racial integration "till death," and he did. He was excommunicated by the Roman Catholic Church in 1962 for blocking the opening of a parochial school that had been desegregated.

Capital Improvements Program Told

The purpose of the preliminary program — required each year by the city charter — is to identify anticipated capital expenditure needs and therefore enable the city to program the needs over a period of years, to even out the demands for revenue over a period of time and to relate needs with resources.

After review by the Planning Commission, the program must be reviewed by Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf and the Capital Improvements Advisory Board before going to the City Council.

The City Council voted to put on the ballot this May "stopgap" general obligation bond issues to pay for high priority items for 1969-70.

The bond issues, totaling $2.35 million, would pay for storm sewers, two libraries, two fire stations, and relocation of the asphalt plant.

General Approval

The Planning Department indicated in a letter to the Planning Commission that it generally approves of most of the departmental projects but differs on a few items.

Planning Director Douglas Brogden indicated that the Public Works Department project to widen South St. from 62nd to 70th does not conform to the comprehensive plan.

Brogden said improvement of South St., a collector street, would encourage through traffic resulting in a greater volume of traffic.

"It would be more desirable to improve Capital Parkway or A St. in this area," he said in the letter of transmittal.

Brogden said the Holdrege St. bypass is essential to the development of the University of Nebraska and to the efficiency of the northeast radial.

'In an effort to speed construction of this facility and the northeast radial, we believe consideration should be given to a staged development of the bypass," he reported.

Constructed First

Brogden indicated that two of the four lanes could be constructed first.

Dr. Meredith To Address Human Resources Meet

A Wichita, Kan., executive, Dr. Ronald Meredith, will be the main speaker at the 20th annual meeting of the Nebraska Human Resources Research Foundation, Inc., Saturday at the Quality Court Motel.

Dr. Meredith, a former Methodist minister and now a member of a stock brokerage firm, will speak at 9 a.m. on "Man's Seventh Dimension," according to Dr. Gaylen Dodge, member of the Teachers College faculty at the University of Nebraska.

Some 200 former project members of the Nebraska Human Resources Research Foundation are expected to attend the 20th anniversary meeting.

House Passes Bill Following Nixon Appeal

Washington (AP) — The House voted 313 to 93 Wednesday to authorize $12 billion more government borrowing, after largely partisan debate and a direct appeal from President Nixon.

Democrats took the occasion to remind Republicans, over and over, that in the past GOP members voted heavily against Democratic presidents' requests for increases in the debt ceiling, but reversed themselves when Republicans controlled the White House.

But in the end, 173 Democrats joined 140 Republicans in voting for the bill, while 52 Democrats and 41 Republican voted against it. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Police Continue To Investigate Omahan's Death

Omaha (UPI) — Omaha police said Wednesday they were continuing their investigation into circumstances surrounding the death early Wednesday of an Omaha man.

Anthony E. Adams died at a hospital, apparently of injuries suffered Tuesday afternoon in a scuffle in the downtown sector.

Officers said they have in custody a 38-year old man who admits that he struck Adams knocking him to the pavement.

Adams was taken to a hospital about 6 p.m. and died early Wednesday.

An autopsy was ordered.

FBI Agent Foils Hijack Attempt

New Orleans (AP) — The FBI said an agent among the 89 passengers aboard a Delta Air Lines jet disarmed and captured a would-be hijacker Wednesday after the airliner landed here.

One shot was fired from the gunman's .22 caliber pistol during the struggle, the FBI reported, but no one was hit. The other passengers had just left the plane.

The agent was identified as John Reed, recently transferred from Mobile, Ala., to Oklahoma City. He was flying back to pick up his family and take them to their new home.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Patience with the Nixon administration is beginning to wear a little thin and one would think that this might give the President many sleepless nights. There are three general areas in which the new administration made campaign pledges that have not yet been fulfilled.

The most obvious and complex at the moment is Vietnam where there are no signs of any settlement of the conflict. From reports, it appears that the new President has inaugurated some plan of action for ending the Asian war but not one detail of the plan has become public.

There is even considerable difficulty in trying to imagine what the plan might be. The President has hinted at perhaps some kind of ultimatum that may already have been issued to the communists.

If an ultimatum, it would have to involve the risk of an escalation of activity on the part of the U.S. if the Reds failed to come to terms. And then, there is the question of the terms on which the administration would be willing to settle.

But all of this is speculation. Meanwhile, the fighting in Vietnam seems to grow in intensity and the Paris peace talks seem bogged down in endless diplomatic thrusts and parries.

A second matter of concern is inflation, its continued growth evidenced in the jump this week to 7½ per cent in prime interest rates from banks. By now, there should be but few who subscribe to high interest rates as a hedge against inflation.

The fact is that increasing interest rates are a contribution to inflation, just as are higher prices for the other goods and services which we buy. In another area, personal income of Americans rose by $5.25 billion in February, double the January increase.

Recently, news accounts told of the fantastic increases taking place in the price of lumber. This is stacked on top of higher and higher wages in the building trades to make construction one of the leaders in the inflationary binge that continues to eat away at the American economy.

The Nixon administration has admitted that its efforts to date to slow down the economy have met with no success. But the public has not even been aware that any such efforts have been made. Thus, we have both tried and failed without having even known it.

One wonders if the voluntary approach to inflation control still carries any hope. And one wonders why neither the administration nor Congress gives a look to credit controls.

We doubt that inflation will ever be licked until people stop spending. They will not stop this so long as they can get what they want with nothing down and an interminable length of time in which to pay it off.

Even minimal controls over credit would put a brake on inflation and help people in spite of themselves.

Finally, the administration, with Nebraska's Clifford Hardin in the forefront, is trying to make inroads on the poverty problem. Expanded efforts are being made to give to all people a minimum diet for good health.

In some areas, welfare agencies are knocking on doors to get to poor families who are so badly situated they do not know about relief available to them or lack the knowledge of how to take advantage of it.

Some mothers cannot even read the directions for mixing powdered eggs or milk. But mainly, we are simply finding out more and more every day that the magnitude of the poverty problem is greater than any of us had ever thought.

Two conclusions seem obvious — that the administration needs the continued patience of the American people and that it needs all the wisdom of which it is capable.

Regional Airport

As Lincoln is continuing its fight for increased commercial air service and making plans for expansion of its airport facilities — as is Omaha — the notion of a regional airport to serve Lincoln and Omaha and most of the rest of eastern Nebraska as well is again in the news.

Lincoln's airport consultant out of Chicago told the Airport Authority this week that the idea is impractical at present and that "a regional airport might make sense to look into as to the feasibility of it in 1990."

There are reasons, of course, why the idea is impractical now, but it's a pity the two cities couldn't have gotten together earlier with a better spirit of cooperation and foresight. As things now stand, Omaha is committed to a $15 million expansion of Eppley Field and Lincoln, in order to keep pace with projected traffic growths, is contemplating a three-stage airport improvement the first two stages of which would cost an estimated $10 million. Added to that would be the waste in abandoning the facilities in the near future while taking on the huge expense of building the new mid-way airport.

Some people close to the Omaha-Lincoln situation, however, feel that despite the lack of foresight, air traffic volumes in later years will require the use of both existing airports and a regional airport. What bothers is that during the last exchange on the subject, Omaha leaders in so many words told Lincoln that Omaha is more interested in serving western Iowa than in cooperating with Lincoln.

We hope that within the next 20 years, responsible people in both cities will realize that the combination of passenger potential and geography would make a regional airport between Omaha and Lincoln one of mid-America's leading gateways to the country's air markets.

Reasonable Renewal Compromise

Having cleared another hurdle, the limited urban renewal authority contained for Lincoln and Omaha in LB190 appears likely to win final approval by the Legislature. Some have condemned the procedure because it circumvents the previously required vote of the people on urban renewal.

This is an action that must be viewed with limited merit but LB190 does represent a reasonable compromise. What it authorizes is a single urban renewal project in each city on a sort of pilot project approach.

Thus, it does not totally destroy the public vote concept. What it seeks to do is to provide the voters with a working example of what full-scale urban renewal would be like so that the issue could then be judged on its merits.

This does have merit because it is always difficult to visualize something that is not actually in being. One of the problems with urban renewal voting now is that the public really does not know for sure what it is voting on.

Every vote is subject to claims and counter-claims by both the proponents and opponents of urban renewal. Where the truth lies under those circumstances can be most difficult for the voter to ascertain.

But one urban renewal project could hardly be a disaster for either city. It could demonstrate to voters, however, just how the program would work and what its real advantages and disadvantages are. There is a question, of course, whether Lincoln could avail itself of this state authority because of its lack of a minimum standards housing ordinance but passage of the legislation could hardly be any loss on this score.

Alterness

Lincoln, Neb.

We read that the Soviet newspapers had warm praise for the flight of Apollo 9. I don't trust the words dictated by their higher institutions. The communists who have decided to bury us and conquer the free world have eloquence only for some specific purpose, for negotiations in the future.

Let us not be fooled. The communists who claim the best system, the best competitive teams in sports, the best arms will never admit that free nations have something better than their own. That includes the moon landing, too.

Since ancient times, it has been advised to be alert to the donations or praises of your enemies.

Unarmed Bandits

Lincoln, Neb.

We are a retired couple on Social Security. A few weeks ago, my wife woke up with a headache. We thought it might be due to a gas leak, so called the gas company for a free inspection.

The inspector said we needed a cap for the outlet pipe on the furnace. So we called a furnace company, received the cap and the following bill: Cap 50c; labor $13.50; total $14.00. The gas company charge was $4.64. So now we both have headaches.

Why a gun law when unarmed bandits can do this?

Better Education

Lexington, Neb.

It was heart-warming to observe the television program presenting the proceedings of the State Board of Education wherein board member Frank Landis left the meeting because he was fed up with the innuendoes, half-truths and derogatory statements directed at Dr. Miller by lobbyist Brauer.

It would be amusing if it weren't for the tragic influence that these innuendoes, half-truths and derogatory statements have had on too many uninformed voters, which in turn has had the tragic effect of resulting in the election of a State Board of Education which in the majority have evidenced a tendency to retard progress in education in Nebraska by their determined effort to oust Dr. Miller, a gentleman who has demonstrated his capabilities and courage in supporting a program of better education and educational opportunities for our young people of Nebraska, both rural and city.

We were amused in observing the sympathy extended to lobbyist Brauer by the newly elected member of the board, Mrs. Deborah Shepherd, when she stated she wouldn't treat anyone such as lobbyist Brauer had been treated by Mr. Landis. This reminded us that our petitions with over 300 signatures obtained in 18 rural communities in only two days by volunteer workers that were presented by Larry Biehl in testimony at the Great Plans Report public hearing in Lincoln in support of Dr. Miller's effort could not be located by Chairman Burkhart for two weeks following the hearing until he turned the search over to Dr. Miller, who, after another week, located them in the possession of Deborah Shepherd. Hence they were never presented as testimony at the board meeting the next day in Omaha as was the intention.

We wish to congratulate the Chadron, Gering and Grand Island school boards on their unanimous resolution to support Dr. Miller and to publicize this action. We most heartily concur in Chadron school board President Fitzgibbon's statement: "If the State Board of Education does not back Dr. Miller, education in Nebraska will fall behind."

Let us develop an organization favorable to better education to combat the adverse effect of the scare tactics circulated so widely and passionately by lobbyist Brauer and the NSIA.

Cause Of Crime

Crete, Neb.

I read in The Star about the bill to allow young boys to buy liquor and beer at the age of 20. This is the most outrageous thing I have ever heard of. We send our senators to Lincoln to attend to state business, not to make law-breakers out of our young men. The laws we have now are aiding crime, not stopping it.

I wish our governor had thrown his pen away before he signed it.

Our laws are so rotten now, they would chase a cat off a garbage truck. How can we have anything but crime, the way our Legislature and Congress are doing?

Patchwork Prairie Country

I had a delightful surprise this morning as I braved the recent cold snap to pry beneath the snow. As I brushed the last remains of a winter snowbank away, I found tiny green shoots of tulips pushing toward the sun.

What faith they have, I thought. I, too, am convinced spring is coming but I have not found the strength to force myself into the sharp north wind and abnormally cold temperatures.

I also noticed the flowering crab tree set out only last spring has highlights of red bark on the twigs that becomes more pronounced each day. There is a slight swelling of the lilac buds but no bold decision to burst out in a bright galaxy of green leaves and purple flowers.

☆ ☆ ☆

It was almost unbelievable that a fly should sit on the outside of my kitchen window in ten-degree temperatures, yet that was the case today. It surely must have been a blue-tailed fly for it was of such a large size. It spread its wings and enjoyed the sun before moving on to another sunny location. I did pause to think that the new season we are all anxiously awaiting also brings the flies and mosquitoes. There is always something to mar our dreams of better days.

☆ ☆ ☆

It may seem that I have my seasons mixed up a bit for I planted six yellow tulip bulbs today. I purchased them late last fall with an eye to potting them for indoor bloom. Somehow I never accomplished my aim but did keep them in a very cool dark place all winter. They had small quarter inch tips of green as I took them from the box.

The ground is completely thawed south of the house where I found the other tulips pushing through so I dug a hole and dropped the bulbs in, then covered their new outdoor plot with snow. I hope to feign winter so they will take root and grow. Whether they will bloom this spring is doubtful but at least it is an adventure into the growing of flowers that I have never tried.

I also mounded snow on the tulips that were above ground to slow their growth. I remember one spring they had tender buds when an unusually cold snap came along and froze them. Within a few days the buds turned brown and dropped from the plants. Maybe my efforts will fail but I intend to keep a cover of snow on them as long as the banks of snow allow me the material.

Our neighbor's little lambs have arrived, another has ordered baby chicks and another has gathered the first goose eggs. This all serves to stimulate me to raise some young spring creatures as we have done in the past. We used to get baby chicks in February or early March. I raised geese and ducks and delighted in their antics.

Over the years we have discontinued these tasks but I do miss them when spring is in the air.

The only reliable venture I have left is raising radishes. I have never been disappointed in the results. There is nothing that inflates the ego like a good crop of radishes.

Vietnamese Testing President For Bluff

WASHINGTON — There are ominous signs that the North Vietnamese intend to call President Nixon's bluff and test out his recent press conference statement that he will warn them only once. The implication was that he might resume bombing North Vietnam if the communist attacks continue.

This would be a reverse step which could return all the headaches and heartaches suffered by the Johnson administration: the peace marches, intensified campus revolts, and draft card burnings.

Obviously this is something any president wants to avoid. And though Mr. Nixon was quite firm in his one warning statement, actually he has given at least two warnings behind the scenes.

Warning No. 1 was delivered by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to the North Vietnamese at the Paris peace conference. Lodge also accused the North Vietnamese of violating the verbal agreement that led to Johnson's bombing halt.

Warning No. 2 was delivered indirectly by Secretary of State William P. Rogers through Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin that the United States would be compelled to retaliate if the North Vietnamese attacks continued. It was hoped that the Russians might be able to influence Hanoi to exercise restraint.

The Russians have been quite helpful in the past but have constantly cautioned that their influence with Ho Chi Minh is limited.

If the North Vietnamese attacks do continue, President Nixon will find himself in a bind. Obviously he doesn't want to resume bombing, with all its public reaction. Obviously he has also got himself out on a limb by stating that he would warn only once.

The facts regarding the escalating war are complicated but important. As pieced together from intelligence reports and talks with experienced diplomats, here is a summary of what has happened:

1. At the time of the bombing pause last October, the North Vietnamese had pulled their troops back and generally had de-escalated the war. There were fewer casualties, and it looked as if the North Vietnamese genuinely wanted peace.

2. Immediately after President Johnson's Oct. 31 announcement of a complete bombing halt in the north, Gen. Creighton Abrams intensified ground operations against the Viet Cong in South Vietnam. He was careful to avoid attacks on the north, but stepped up bombing in the south. It was explained that the United States wanted to "negotiate from strength."

3. U.S. surveillance showed that the North Vietnamese were rushing military supplies and reserve units south over bridges previously subject to American attack.

Experienced diplomats contend that this was in response to Gen. Abrams' intensification of the war; that they too wanted to "negotiate from strength."

American military men contend that the North Vietnamese were taking advantage of our bombing halt.

Whichever side is right in this argument — U.S. diplomats or the U.S. military — it remains a fact that the latest North Vietnamese offensive did not begin until Feb. 23, one month after Nixon became president. Two earlier attempts were broken up by devastating American firepower.

All in all it looks as if Richard Nixon is about to face his first crucial test as president.

Soviets Displaying New And Friendly Approach Analyzed As Willingness To Discuss Problems

WASHINGTON — Soviet officials are clearly in one of their officially amiable moods these days, and talk as if U.S.-Soviet "peace and friendship" were back again as the major slogan of their foreign policy.

The Soviets seldom change the mood by accident. They are usually correct, but they are almost always cold or genial for some specific reason, and the reason this time seems to be that they are taking the fighting along the Soviet-Chinese border with the utmost seriousness, and want no unnecessary trouble with the West over Berlin, the Middle East, or arms control in the meanwhile.

The evidence of a new Soviet tactical approach to world problems is piling up. They called on the West Germans, of all people, to explain their troubles with the Chinese. They are elaborately polite to the new Nixon administration, and in regular and almost chummy personal communication with the White House and the State Department. They did not demur about President Nixon's proclamations in Europe about the importance of the North Atlantic Treaty and the Common Market, both of which they have denounced in the past, and they even reacted to President Nixon's latest decision to build an anti-missile system as if he were doing them a favor.

Meanwhile, they have suddenly agreed to a new rapid communications system between the U.S. embassy in Moscow and the State Department, which they had held up for many months, and they are now pressing for an agreement on the revival of U.S. consul offices in Leningrad and a new Soviet consulate in San Francisco.

Of course, they keep on supplying North Vietnam and the Arab countries with military arms, and continue to menace Czechoslovakia as if it were a hostile colony, but something is obviously happening in their relations with the other communist states and with the Western nations, and particularly, with the United States.

☆ ☆ ☆

This has produced a quiet but fascinating debate within the new Nixon administration, which is an odd mixture of the old Johnson holdovers, the new Nixon appointees, and the professional Washington bureaucracy — all of them divided on whether this latest Soviet approach to Washington, the Middle East, and arms control is an opportunity or a trap.

President Nixon has been listening to those who think that both the Soviets and the North Vietnamese are in trouble — and therefore should be pressed for concessions everywhere — and he has also been hearing from other aides who see a fundamental change in the Soviet Union's relations with China and the West, and want him to exploit the change by avoiding military decisions and talking as soon as possible to the Soviet Union about the Middle East, arms control and Vietnam.

The new President's reaction to all this is clearly to temporize and compromise, and since he has to deal with delicate and ambiguous political problems both at home and abroad, there is something to be said for his caution.

His decision to order the deployment of a modified anti-ballistic system has divided and confused both his supporters and his opponents at home, and in any event will take a long time to debate before any money and machinery can be gathered to do the job. Meanwhile, he has taken advantage of the new Soviet offers of cooperation, to reassure Ambassador Dobrynin that he is willing to to talk about the Middle East and arms control long before anybody will have time to build or set up a single anti-ballistic missile site in Montana or North Dakota.

The question is whether the Soviet Uniion, for whatever reason — China or anything else — is finally ready to talk sense about controlling the arms race and the Arab-Israeli controversy in the Middle East. The signs here are the Soviets want to talk about both — that is about all the evidence will support.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Couple, 70, Would Not Dream Of Sleeping In Separate Rooms

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. — "That couple you quoted who enjoy separate rooms don't know what they're missing. We're in our 70's and wouldn't dream of sleeping anywhere except in the same bed. When I lie close to my husband all worries and heartbreaks of the past seem far away. Our romance hasn't chilled — it's warmer than ever. If you use this letter don't print my name as I wouldn't want to embarass our children who think we're kinda lovesick and silly."

A. — You and your husband apparently enjoy complete togetherness — and that's great. But other couples, just as devoted in spirit, may have differing nocturnal habits. He may like to read or listen to the radio in bed, while she likes to go right to sleep. His snoring may break the sound barrier while her delicate ears can barely stand the tick of a clock. He may roll around in bed like a hibernating grizzly, while the slightest movement of the bedsprings bothers her. And he may enjoy getting up for midnight snacks, while his dieting wife gets frustrated hearing him head for the leftovers in the refrigerator.

Q. — "When Dad died I assumed there would be something for me, even though he's disliked me ever since I married the daughter of his worst enemy. I waited several weeks and then phoned my brother and sister, who lived in the same town as Dad. They shocked me by saying Dad died broke. This is impossible as he owned the old house and a couple of lots. A friend of mine who lives there says Dad left everything to my brother and sister. What can I do?"

A. — Hire a lawyer in the town where your father lived. If there was a will he can get you a copy and tell you your rights. If you're a legal son of the deceased, you can claim a portion of his estate — even though he may have excluded you from his will. It will cost some money to contest the will, but it may be worthwhile depending on the size of his estate.

Q. — "Our next door neighbors retired two years ago and couldn't wait to sell their home and move to Miami. But now they're back again wishing they had stayed put. Seems they couldn't adjust to living down there. Why do so many people rush to Florida when they retire?"

A. — Because the sunshine state is a great place for elder citizens, thanks to its year-round mild climate and moderate living costs. But before calling the moving van, folks should be smart enough to spend several weeks in a locality getting acquainted. They should talk with residents in their age bracket, get a clear understanding of living costs, and familiarize themselves with recreational and social opportunities. Moving to a new community means losing touch with old friends and familiar surroundings. Make sure the new locale offers enough plus values to offset the losses.

If you would like a booklet, "Retiring to Florida," write to Robert Peterson, c/o Disaptch Letter Service, 25 W. 45th St., New York, N.Y. 10036, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Near 500 At K-12 Hearing; No Conclusions Said Reached

Hemingford (UPI) — A hearing was conducted here concerning formation of a K-12 school district in the area.

The plan involves consolidation of seven Box Butte County rural districts and merger with the city school district here.

Hemingford city schools Supt. James Robison estimated 400-450 persons attended the two-hour meeting, conducted by the Box Butte County school reorganization committee.

Robison said some of those present expressed opposition to the plan. He said the meeting ended without any conclusions being reached.

One question raised was if the rural districts would have to help pay the bonded indebtedness of the city school district. However, under the plan each district would pay off only its own indebtedness.

Hemingford this year levied 10.6 mills to help pay off an estimated $181,000 indebtedness.

Robison said the five-member reorganization committee did not indicate its next step.

Is Sunday Shopping Really Necessary

We know that we would do some business at 3:00 A.M. if we decided to throw our keys away and never close. This has been tried elsewhere, but has proven to be a very uneconomical way to operate a business. Usually, operating retail stores on Sundays simply results in added overhead and expense for the merchant. The average customer prefers not to shop on Sunday. Therefore the added expenses of a Sunday payroll, lights, air conditioning, etc., cannot be justified. Sunday hours can only result in the raising of prices for the majority to provide the luxury of Sunday shopping for the minority. At Hinky Dinky, we wish to re-state our policy of "Never-on-Sunday", unless we are forced to operate our stores on Sundays for competitive reasons.

SAFEGUARDING YOUR TEEN-AGER AGAINST DRUGS . . .

Thorough Knowledge Of Drugs Main Key To Preventing Abuse

(Editor's Note: This is the eighth in a series by a prize-winning science writer who provides parents with background on the narcotics and drug situation and suggests ways for them to help guard their children against its ill effects.)

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press
Science Writer

Facts provide a main key to preventing abuse of dangerous drugs.

The more complete and factual information parents have on the "mind" drugs, the more effective they can be in dealing with drug temptations and problems.

Youths and children also need to know the full story, particularly because drug users are the very ones who induce or try to induce other people to try the same drugs.

Those who "push" the mind-affecting drugs, in the beginning at least, are often users who may wish only to share their experiences with others. But they do not always mention the potential or real hazards of the drugs they push.

Should Teach Respect

Beginning at a very young age, "we should teach children respect for drugs of all kinds, even aspirin" (which can cause death by overdose), says John Finlator, associate director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs.

"We should teach them to take drugs only as needed, and to follow directions when they do. We cannot wait until children reach an age of decision about drugs. We must tell them facts about all kinds of drugs, when they are in their pre-decision, pre-commitment years, when children listen.

"We should tell them that if they take marijuana, they may get into trouble. We should tell them that LSD can lead them to a hospital. We should not only tell them but let them find that what we tell them is true.

"Let them read about it, all of it. Kids are smart. They're going to make decisions. Let's give them good, informed, intelligent information."

Factual Discussion

Parents are advised to respond with factual discussion if they suspect or know their children, or children's friends, are using or being tempted to use dangerous drugs.

"Stress the positive aspects," one psychiatrist suggests.

"Remind them of the penalties under law. Remind them that anything drugs can do for them, they can achieve in other ways. You can feel good, be sociable, without depending on drugs.

"Ask why they think they should do the drug bit — how do they think drugs help them? What is troubling them or influencing them so they think they ought to play with drugs? Does it serve a social purpose? If there are no real benefits, why are they using drugs?

Head-on quarrels over drugs, or other subjects, often only create more tensions and wider gulfs than they settle.

Allow Decisions

Parents should "respond to kids as human beings," says another psychiatrist. "If we are going to let a generation grow up, we have got to let them make some decisions, with a chance they will make some that are wrong.

"If they are taught to make minor decisions at first, and then more important ones as they grow older, they are far less likely to depend upon other people for decisions, and to depend upon crutches such as drugs in order to get along."

Some parents really fear their children will run away if they impose strict standards and discipline. Others advocate strict discipline with no back-talk.

Various specialists stress, however, that youths want authority, but not tyranny.

Some young persons who became addicted to heroin say they think they would not have done so if their parents had really been concerned about them, and also had set strict standards.

Friend and Parent

Youngsters want parents to be fair, and to hear them out before pronouncing judgments. No harm is done by being a friend as well as a parent.

Parents also are advised to know and to be interested in where their children spend their time, and with whom, but not to appear as suspicious nags in seeking that knowledge.

Other major points of counsel:

Respect the confidence of children and youths and respect their right to some privacy.

Give youngsters "general support for flying right, rather than make a special campaign aimed at use of drugs."

If — whatever the discipline or family relationships — parents sense they are drifting away from their children, "it is time for a change, but make it a slow rather than a sudden change. No one dramatic step will remedy the situation, and neither will shouting nor a show of force. Do it gradually, but do it."

Terrible Chasms

In studies of families where youths are abusing drugs, terrible chasms are often apparent between parents and children, says Dr. Harry A. Wilmer of the University of California School of Medicine.

"We see in these parents their rejection of their children, their righteousness, the vain and awful attempts to impose their values on their children," he says.

Dr. Wilmer says that "what troubles me most, from the position of the law and the families, is that the more punitive the laws become, the more rigid the barriers within the family.

"Parents become police surrogates, harassing their children, smelling their rooms, their clothes, examining their (eye) pupils, asking leading and misleading questions, interrogating and acting like 'cops.'

"The more stringent the laws become for possession, the more this awful chasm is widened," Dr. Wilmer adds.

(Tomorrow: What to do if youngsters become "hooked" on drugs.)

Labor Committee Advances Bill Permitting 'Agency Shop'

By The Associated Press

A controversial bill opening the door to the agency shop in Nebraska labor relations was sent to the floor of the Legislature Wednesday on a 4-3 vote of the Unicameral's Labor Committee.

The measure, LB468, chiefly sponsored by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, drew strong support from labor unions and heavy opposition from employers at its public hearing two weeks ago.

In other consequential action, the committee Wednesday reconsidered its previous decision to kill LB818, a bill affecting the working hours of paid firemen. The committee amended the bill to retain 60 hours as the maximum average length of work week in any one month for paid firemen, and then sent the measure to the floor on a 5-0 vote.

Originally, Sen. Carpenter's LB818 proposed to reduce the maximum work week from 60 to 56 hours while revising other aspects of related law. As reported out, the bill keeps 60 hours as the work week maximum but prescribes that each single duty shift shall consist of 24 consecutive hours, followed by an off-duty period to assure compliance with the maximum hour requirements.

Two bills designed to put women on a par with men as to work opportunities and pay were sent to the floor on 7-0 votes after public hearings before the committee Wednesday afternoon.

One of the bills, LB501, reenacts a bill passed two years ago decreeing that women shall receive the same pay as men for equal work.

Sen. Fern Orme of Lincoln, sponsor of LB501 with 46 of her colleagues as co-signers, explained that a 1967 act purporting to write into law the "equal pay" act contained a defect in its title. LB501 simply corrects the defect and re-enacts the law, she said.

The second bill heard, LB411, repeals sections of present law which place special limitations on the working hours of women in manufacturing, public service corporations and seasonal agricultural occupations.

The agency shop issue raised in LB468 can be expected to receive some heavy debate on the Unicameral floor.

Nebraska's constitution prohibits a so-called union shop, in which all employes are required to be union members.

The agency shop provision would need to be written into the union contract to take effect.

Terry Wants Vehicle Sales Tax Plan Killed

Sen. Terry Carpenter Wednesday asked the Legislature's Revenue Committee to kill his proposal that motor vehicle dealers, rather than county treasurers, collect the sales tax on vehicle sales.

The bill, LB537, had been scheduled for public hearing.

Carpenter said he no longer supports the measure.

Motor vehicle dealers are the only retailers in the state who are not required to collect the sales tax from their customers.

Purchasers pay the tax to the county treasurer when they apply for a motor vehicle registration certificate.

In other committee action, Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton presented LB549, which would apply a 5% tax on the annual gross revenue of private sales of electricity to tenants.

Burbach said some business enterprises, particularly shopping centers, operate their own generation units for private sale of electricity to tenants.

Public power districts now pay in-lieu-of-taxes at a 5% rate, Burbach noted.

There was no opposition to the bill.

The Nebraska Petroleum Council registered its opposition to LB36, a Carpenter bill requiring the lessee of personal property, as well as the lessor, to report the property for tax purposes.

A petroleum spokesman said the bill would require a duplication of effort.

LB36 also would impose a $15 penalty for failure to report the property.

All three bills were held for later action.

Big Red Plate Bill Advanced

Big Red would be on every Nebraska license plate every year under a bill dispatched to the floor by the Legislature's Public Works Committee Tuesday.

The proposed scarlet and white license plate colors conform to the school colors at the University of Nebraska.

The bill, LB809, was sponsored by Sen. Terry Carpenter from an idea spawned by Mrs. Lou Roper of Lincoln, an avid Cornhusker fan and the daughter of chief legislative bill drafter John Wilson.

Mrs. Roper, wearing red shoes and a white coat, told the committee Nebraska vehicles should have distinctively colored plates to "show people in other states we're from Nebraska.

"We have some loyal football fans who follow the team all over the country, and they wear red and white," she said. The license plates also should carry the distinguishing hues, she said.

The committee specified with an amendment the colors will be alternated — from a white background with scarlet lettering to a scarlet back with white lettering — each time new plates are made.

Different colors have been applied to Nebraska plates over the years, and Mrs. Roper said she was "very disappointed" with in the present black and white.

A motion to change the motto on the plates from "The Cornhusker State" back to "The Beef State" lost by a 2-4 vote.

The committee killed LB734, which would have permitted farm trucks to be overweighted during the harvest season.

Solons Kill Disclosure Of Tax-Exempt Property Value

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature, on a narrow 25-20 vote, Wednesday killed a bill which would have required counties to annually list and value all tax-exempt real property for information of the public.

The bill, LB26, was the object of intense lobbying pressure applied by various tax-exempt organizations who opposed its passage.

"If they have nothing to hide, they should have nothing to fear,' Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff told his colleagues in defending the measure.

Right to Know

Carpenter said the people have a right to know how much property is tax-exempt so they can decide whether all the exemptions granted by the state constitution are proper.

Pending before the Legislature is a Carpenter bill proposing a constitutional amendment which, in effect, would wipe out most tax exemptions and give the Legislature freedom to decide what classes of property should be exempted.

"We are getting too many people under the tent," Carpenter said.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, chairman of the Revenue Committee, led the fight against Carpenter's bill, suggesting that it proposes "a costly venture" for county assessors.

Tighter Laws

Tax-exemption laws were tightened in 1965 with the cooperation of tax-exempt organizations, Burbach said, and properties are now "either clearly exempt or not."

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha proposed the successful kill motion.

Senators have been subjected to an intensive campaign against the bill conducted through letters, telephone calls and other lobbying pressures, much of it initiated by the churches.

"They are apprehensive that if all the information is available, some of the organizations may be taxed," Carpentersaid.

But the churches, he said, would not be in danger of future taxation.

What concerns him, he said, are the 3,000 tax-exempt corporations in the state.

Direct Competition

Many of them are in direct competition with taxpaying businesses, Carpenter noted.

They run the gamut from Ak-Sar-Ben to the American Legion, Elks Clubs and Lincoln's Esquire Club, he pointed out.

"No one really knows how much tax-exempt property there is in Nebraska," he said, "and it's about time we start finding out."

People are going to want to know the full extent of tax exemption when the 1969 Legislature adjourns after increasing the sales tax rate to 3% and boosting the personal income tax rate to 25%, he predicted.

Valuation Said Difficult

Opponents of the measure said it would be difficult to place a value on much of the tax-exempt property.

All information, except value, is already made available to the tax commissioner every four years when tax-exempt organizations subject their status to automatic review, Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln said.

Sen. J. James Waldron of Calloway, who supported the bill, said opponents are chiefly concerned that citizens may withhold future contributions from some tax-exempt organizations when they see how vast their holdings are.

Vote on Klaver's motion to kill:

Against: Budd, Carpenter, Carstens, Clark, Craft, Elrod, Harsh, Kennedy, Kremer, Marvel, Orme, Pedersen, Proud, Robinson, Schreurs, Simpson, Waldron, Warner, Wenzlaff, Whitney.

Not Voting: Duis, Reynolds, Swanson, Waldo.

New 'Vote Of Confidence' Given To Elm

By Associated Press

The American elm, Nebraska's state tree, got a sort of new "vote of confidence" in the Legislature Wednesday, despite some suggestions that Dutch elm disease may ultimately make the species extinct.

An amended bill writing into law the designation of the elm as the state tree was advanced from general file on a 30-4 vote.

As introduced by Sen. Loran Schmit of David City, the measure, LB490, had called for the cottonwood to become the state tree, but an amendment offered Wednesday by Sen. Herbert Duis of Gothenburg substituted the elm for the cottonwod in the bill's language. Duis said Schmit concurred in the amendment and it was approved 25-3.

Two weeks ago lawmakers refused to rescind a 32-year-old legislative resolution which established the American elm as the state tree. Sen. George Syas of Omaha proposed the repealer.

Syas Wednesday moved to kill the pending LB490. He argued that no point is served by having both a resolution and a law to make the elm the state tree.

He argued anew that the American elm is "a dying tree."

The Syas kill motion lost on a 12-20 vote.

Mandatory Reappraisal Bill Delayed

By Associated Press

At the suggestion of its sponsor the Legislature Wednesday laid over a bill which would make scientific reappraisals within counties optional rather than mandatory.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff made the request after senators spent around 25 minutes of the morning session criticizing scientific reappraisals.

He said the bill, LB84, might be the wrong approach to what the body wanted, and that perhaps the Legislature ought "to go back and repeal all the laws that set up the reappraisal in the first place."

By Monday, Carpenter said, he would bring in a set of amendments to LB84, which would accomplish that purpose.

Another Carpenter bill, LB30, was advanced from general file on 32-0 vote. The bill would provide uniform tax exemption procedures for both real and personal property.

Approved 32-1 was LB174, calling for the election of Douglas County commissioners from the county at large instead of by districts.

Advanced 24-0 was LB458, providing for payment of unemployment benefits while an appeal is pending.

Nebraska Senators Overhaul Legislative Rules

By Associated Press

Nebraska lawmakers spent more than an hour overhauling legislative rules Wednesday, and decreed among other things that a practice of suspending rules by unanimous consent be abandoned.

Approved 32-3 was a rules change which specifies that machine vote be taken each time a suspension of rules is at issue. A two-thirds approving vote — or 33 votes — is required for rules suspensions but frequently the unanimous consent technique has been used.

Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha complained the machine vote requirement would be "hamstringing the Legislature," especially on days when a number of senators are absent and the 33 approving votes would be hard to come by.

But Sen. Harold T. Simpson of Lincoln, chairman of the Rules Committee, said "if you are going to suspend the rules, you should have the backing of 33 members."

Sen. Jerome T. Warner of Waverly, speaker of the Legislature, said that "more often the work is expedited by following the rules than searching for shortcuts."

A Rules Committee recommendation that a two-thirds approving vote be required for setting a specific day for consideration of a specific bill on general file was voted down 14-18, after Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff suggested that such procedure should be granted to a requesting senator "as a matter of courtesy."

The Legislature concurred with the Rules Committee in rejecting a proposed rule under which a five-minute time limit would be set on witnesses testifying on bills at committee hearings.

Approved was a change under which the Nebraska retirement systems advisory committee would become a standing committee of the Legislature to hear bills involving retirement systems.

New Zealand Lawmaker Visits Unicam

By Associated Press

A member of the New Zealand Parliament, Robert Tizard, sat in on the Legislature Wednesday to view the only unicameral system in the United States.

"As you may know, we have a unicameral system, too," he told the lawmakers. "There is an unfortunate fact that sometimes you are blind to things under your own nose, so I am here in hopes of picking up some valuable ideas."

Tizard said the formation of the New Zealand Parliament was somewhat different than in Nebraska where the lower house was abolished by constitutional amendment.

"We put in a suicide squad and abolished the upper house," he said.

After watching the Nebraska lawmakers work out some rules changes, Tizard said his parliament is experiencing similar problems.

University Professors Back Pending Annuity Legislation

The Nebraska State Conference of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) has given support to pending legislation concerning tax-sheltered annuities for state normal schools and the University of Nebraska, LB452 and LB939.

The conference further recommended that governing boards of private institutions pattern programs after this legislation.

Conference members also voted to oppose LB7, which provides for replacing the present 13-member appointive Nebraska Educational Television Commission with a nine-member board because it believes the present arrangement is more responsive to the electorate, is better suited for coordinating state and private educational needs and has performed well.

The state conference of AAUP suggested in setting up statewide coordinating council for higher education that the council have advisory powers only, that it sponsor periodic independent studies of the state's higher education needs and base recommendations upon the findings and that at least one of the three members from each district be an educator or have direct educational experience.

The conference also went on record favoring a program of tuition grants to qualified college-age students with a provision for determining reasonable need and entitling grantees to select a college without respect to control. It resolved that such a program be in accord with federal and state constitutional provisions respecting separation of church and state.

The organization also lent its approval and support to Sen. Terry Carpenter's recent amendment to LB170, which as amended, would grant legislative power to the University of Nebraska Board of Regents to grant tenure to faculty members.

This Week's Health Tip

Here's a health tip from your Nebraska State Medical Association:

Each spring many Nebraska youngsters are injured in bicycle accidents. Most of these injuries happen to riders who are violating traffic rules.

A bicycle is only as safe as the ride. Remember to be careful to keep your bicycle under control. Ride single file and never zigzag. Be sure the bike is in good condition, especially the brakes. Do not ride after dark unless you have to, and be sure your bicycle has lights and reflectors.

When traffic is heavy at a busy corner, dismount and walk your bike across.

Watch out at all times for cars and trucks. Let them go first. A car or truck driver deserves courtesy from the bike rider, just as the bike rider expects courtesy from the driver.

Could you tell me the attendance record of Robert Wekesser as a school board member. —T.H., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Robert Wekesser attended 20 of the last 27 school board meetings — this is from Jan. 9, 1968 to the last meeting, March 11, 1969. Other board members for the same period had the following attendance records: Mrs. Catherine Angle, 27 out of 27 meetings; Don Biehn, 26 out of 27; Dr. John Lux, 26 out of 27; Robert Magee, 25 out of 27; and Ed Copple, 27 out of 27.

What does he call the pen and reformatory classrooms and teachers? —C.J., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Duncan says he is certainly aware of the fine teaching programs carried on at the Nebraska Penal Complex. The penal complex primary responsibility, Duncan says, is correctional, with schooling secondary. The federal wage and hour jurisdiction does not extend to such correctional institutions as the penal complex and straight time is paid for overtime. The Geneva School (girls) and the Kearney Boys Training School do not have felons and their primary responsibility is schooling truant youngsters sent to the schools for such training, says Duncan. These facilities are recognized under wage and hour jurisdiction.

Just before Thanksgiving last year, I gave my car radio to a young man for repairs. He took it to the Miller Repair Shop in Hebron and I haven't seen the radio since. The repair shop said they did not know he brought it to them. —D.H., Chester

ACTION LINE: This young man is allowed to use the repair facilities at the shop and buy parts there, but the shop has no responsibility to his customers. However, the shop owner did track down the radio and apparently you and the young man will need to work out details of when he will install the radio back in your auto. The repair shop is courteous enough to permit the youngster to make a little pocket money, so don't blame the shop. By the way — there is a bill of some $16 for parts you should discuss with the shop owner.

Changes In Sales-Income Tax Law Opposed

Opposition to any major change in Nebraska's sales-income tax law was voiced Tuesday by the board of directors of the Nebraska Association of Commerce and Industry (NACI).

The board, meeting to review tax bills and other legislation before the Unicameral, noted that Nebraska's tax base should be kept as broad as possible and that efforts to provide specific exemptions should be resisted.

Backing that policy, the board opposed the seven homestead exemption bills heard by the Revenue Committee Tuesday and suggested a Legislative Council interim study on the homestead exemption issue.

The board also agreed to oppose LB589, which would exempt farm machinery from the sales and use tax; LB586, which calls for exemption of electricity and all fuels purchased for farm residential use from the sales tax, and LB914 and LB915, calling for exemption of water and air pollution control equipment from both the sales and property taxes.

The NACI supported LB574, which would peg the sales tax rate to the income tax rate.

On education matters, the directors called for retention of the eight per cent spending limitation in the state aid to school law as a means of possible property tax relief locally. The NACI also supported the principles of LB979, which would establish a statewide community college system, and LB205, the higher education coordination measure.

Trip Delayed

London (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's peace mission to federal Nigeria has been postponed for one day until March 27, official sources said.

Extension Of Grazing Period Asked

The Legislature was asked Wednesday to approve a resolution calling for an extended grazing period on last year's crop roughage.

Sen. Thomas Kennedy of Newman Grove, the sponsor of Resolution 29, asked that grazing in 55 Nebraska counties which would normally be prohibited after March 31 be extended to May 15.

Kennedy noted in the resolution that Nebraska livestock have had no opportunity to graze on the roughage because of an unusually severe winter.

The resolution was laid over for consideration later.

Game Commission Head Suggests State Funding Of Proposed Headquarters

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Budget Committee was asked Wednesday to consider state funding for the State Game Commission's proposed $1.4 million headquarters building on the East Campus.

Commission Director Mel Steen told the committee a private funding agreement with the City of Lincoln "will cost more money" than if state funds were "loaned" to the commission for the building.

Earlier this month, the commission sought financing proposals from Nebraska towns after Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann cut the proposed structure from the commission's requested 1969-71 budget.

Steen has balked at a proposal to locate commission offices in the proposed State Office Building near the Capitol.

For some three hours, the Budget Committee probed for facts behind the figures in the commission's $19.6 million budget for the next two years.

The continuation budget of $11.7 million is up $1.2 million over current biennium expenditures. Revenue was estimated as $2.8 million tax money and $8.8 million cash funds.

Improvements

Projected capital improvements totaled $7.5 million with funding proposed as $3.4 million tax funds and $4.1 million from cash sources.

Commission officials said the governor's recommendation is $383,000 for tourist promotion, of which $160,000 is "new money" as compared with $650,000 requested.

Steen told the committee that tourist promotion "is the most profitable promotion the state can engage in."

Eye Ranch Purchase

The committee also pressed for information on the $1.3 million purchase of the James Ranch as part of the proposed Fort Robinson Recreational Complex.

Steen noted the commission has general authority for such purchase, but conceded the Legislature probably should have been asked for "specific authority."

"You can't keep track of every little detail," suggested Steen.

"A $1.3 million purchase is not a little detail," replied Budget Chairman Richard Marvel.

No Increase

Jack Hanna, commission budget chief, said the budget allows no increase in the present 379 employes.

In fact, Hanna requested restoration of ten positions cut by the governor's office because the jobs weren't filled for 12 months. He said salary schedules proposed are within the 5% annual increase set by Tiemann.

Hanna said $425,000 is budgeted for "vehicle replacement" because this was deferred in past years and funds used for other purposes.

"Our equipment is worn out now and it will take a chunk of money to begin a bona fide replacement program," he said.

Buffalo Bill Complex

A North Platte delegation was informed $353,000 has been budgeted for the Buffalo Bill Complex, which would include a joint stadium-arena for the city's Nebraskaland Days.

Steen said a $600,000 commitment for the joint facility was made to North Platte with $400,000 funding by the state and $200,000 by the city.

Plans to use federal land and water funds fell through, according to Steen and the project was deferred.

However, the committee was told $100,000 would have to be "restored" to the budget if the project is to be fully funded next biennium.

Bill Aimed At De Facto Segregation Is Defeated

By The Associated Press

A bill which proponents said would help end de facto segregation in Omaha schools was killed by the Legislature's Education Committee Wednesday.

Sponsored by Omaha Sen. Edward Danner, LB1042 would have prohibited students from transferring between schools when the transfer would increase racial imbalances, and would have forced Negro teachers to serve at least one year in heavily-white schools and white teachers in heavily-Negro schools.

Opposition to the proposed measure came from the Omaha Public School System and the Omaha Education Association.

Danner cited high Negro enrollments at several Omaha high schools and almost all-white enrollments at others.

He said forcing teachers to serve in different schools would "make them confront a different type of situation — and make them better teachers."

A teacher who would not wish to serve in a school heavily populated by another race "should leave," Danner said. "Teaching's the wrong place for that type of person."

Frank Williams of the Omaha Education Association said that the measure would "chase good teachers away." He said that a volunteer program, attempting to promote service in heavily-Negro schools, is succeeding and that the problem might be solved that way.

The committee also killed Danner's LB1044, requiring the Omaha public schools to set up a complete teacher aide program within a single school for experimental purposes.

Advanced was Danner's LB1043, giving school administrators in Omaha the power to require school children between the ages of six and 15 to attend summer school sessions.

Present summer school programs are set up only on a voluntary basis, the committee was told.

For the third time in a week, the committee again deliberated on LB829 — a bill that has been amended several times previously, placed on general file once, once recalled to committee and once killed.

Wednesday the committee revived Alliance Sen. Leslie Stull's school transportation allowance measure, amended it once more and dispatched the bill to the floor.

"For the last time, I hope," one committee member said.

As amended, LB829 would set the allowances, paid by school boards in districts without bus transportation, at 30 cents per mile for a one way trip between the residence and the school.

In effect, the measure would decrease present allowances by one fourth.

Bill Permitting GI To Annex Suburb Moves

A bill which would allow the city of Grand Island to annex the city of Parkview was advanced to the floor of the Legislature by the Urban Affairs Committee.

The measure, LB909, would allow any first class city to annex any second class city or village it totally surrounds.

An amendment would disallow annexation when the smaller city has its own sewage, disposal, electrical and water distribution systems, among other things.

The bill was sponsored by Sen. Donald Elrod of Grand Island and was supported by Grand Island city officials and several other first class cities at a recent public hearing.

Residents strongly protested to the measure.

Tiemann Reduces Mileage Payments

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann announced Wednesday that employes of state administrative departments will be limited to eight cents per mile for use of personal cars on state business.

The directive does not effect those state agencies not under the governor's control. These agencies can continue to allow mileage reimbursement up to the ten-cent maximum authorized by the 1967 Legislature.

George Ludwig, general services director for the Department of Administrative Services, described the directive as an "economy" move, and applicable to 17 administrative departments.

Most departments had been allowing ten cents a mile for personal cars, Ludwig said.

He said a survey of other states, including Missouri, Michigan and South Dakota, indicated a maximum of eight cents in those states.

Also he noted the University of Nebraska has an eight-cent limit.

Ludwig said operating costs of 3,000 state-owned cars is 6.5 cents per mile or less, and this includes "gas, oil and everything — depreciation, insurance and maintenance."

"We feel eight cents for personal cars is a reasonable allowance in view of our studies of comparable mileage allowances in other states and the operating cost of state-owned vehicles," he said.

A check of several agencies independent of the governor's office indicated they would continue to pay the maximum allowance, while others said they may make an adjustment in view of Tiemann's directive to code departments.

Little Overflow Is Expected By Manager Of Salt Valley

Hal Schroeder, general manager of the Salt Valley Watershed District, told watershed district directors Wednesday he does not anticipate much of an overflow problem on the Salt Valley reservoirs at this time.

"The problem of flooding will be a concern to us during the May-to-June period rather than during the spring," Schroeder said.

He said whatever runoff occurs this spring will be regulated by present conservation practices and by the dams within the watershed.

Smooth Fluctuation

"The day-to-day fluctuation of the water level has been occurring smoothly," he said.

Schroeder said the Salt Valley district has been fortunate so far this spring.

Watershed directors were told by Ed Lawson of the Corps of Engineers that a restudy of the Salt Creek-Wahoo Basin will be delayed two years until 1973 because of the near impossible workload the corps is now handling.

The report was expected by 1971 with the information to be included in a study on the improvement of the watershed area.

Directors Displeased

Watershed directors said they were displeased by the announced delay. They decided to request that at least some information be available by 1971 for inclusion in reports the watershed district must later make.

The directors also approved a resolution urging the Unicameral to continue a general fund appropriation of not less than $1.7 million for the next biennium for use in providing recreation access roads to flood-control lakes.

The budget for the hard surface roads to the lakes was cut from the governor's budget proposal to the Legislature.

Schroeder said Olive Branch, Yankee Hill and Twin Lakes reservoirs do not have hard surface roads leading to them.

Directors also discussed land treatment and soil conservation within the district and named Earl Luff of Lincoln as chairman of a committee on flood management.

Suggested LES Sale Faces Opposition

. . . Renner Says Davidson's Idea Could Mean Rate Hike

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

A Lincoln Electric Service official said any sale of the electric public utility by the city could mean higher rates to customers in the long run.

Dale Renner, special assistant to the mayor regarding the public utility, made the comment Wednesday following a suggestion announced by Councilman Bill Davidson that the sale of the utility be considered as one idea to the operation of the electric system.

Davidson said he was tossing the idea of selling the recently-acquired electric system and getting in return a financial gain towards paying for capital improvements "into the hopper" only as an alternative for the Charter Revision Committee to consider in solving the management question that now faces the committee.

'$40 Million'

He said the city could possibly sell the utility for roughly $40 million and invest the money to produce an interest gain of $2.2 to $2.6 million a year.

The councilman said he would only back such an idea if the sale of the utility would not bring about higher rates to LES customers.

Davidson said he favors having the council govern rates in a similar manner to its present control on natural gas rates.

Bond Required

Renner said he personally opposes the sale because the purchaser would have to acquire the assets through issuing a bond.

"The cost of paying off the bond would prohibit reduction of rates," he said.

Renner said the electric system is paying off two bonds now and expects to make a rate reduction in 1972 and further rate reductions thereafter.

"We plow our revenues back into the utility to provide reduced rates and more efficient service," he said.

R. E. Campbell, chairman of the Power Advisory Board, said he also opposes any sale which could lead to higher rates in comparison of what LES can provide.

'Nothing Wrong'

"There is nothing wrong with the economic logic of selling the LES but we would be putting ourselves in the hands of the Philistines," Campbell said.

Campbell agreed that the benefits from city ownership of its electric system flow back to the people in the form of lower electric rates.

Campbell said he did not think that the city could maintain control over rates or have any assurances as to the continued quality of the system if it sells the system.

Climbed Long Way

"We have climbed a long way up the ladder in providing Lincoln with excellent electric service at the lowest possible rates. I would hate to now see us slide backwards," he said.

Davidson said he would prefer public ownership of the utility if it is to be sold but has no objection to private ownership.

Davidson said the idea to sell the utility came during discussions with other people on how the city should solve the problems inherent in the City Council's attempt to provide for the governing of the system.

The councilman noted that a capital improvements program for the next six years calls for expenditures of $31 million "which the new owner would have to pay."

The Charter Revision Committee had tabled action last week on a request to have a charter amendment on the May election ballot which would provide for a "semi-autonomous" governing board to operate the utility.

The city purchased Consumers Public Power District retail electrical properties in and around the city three years ago in ending the operation of two competitive power systems within the city.

Lt. L. A. Stark Dies In Action

Washington (AP) — The Defense Department Wednesday reported the death of another Nebraska serviceman in action in Vietnam.

The latest reported Nebraska victim was identified as Army 1st Lt. Larry A. Stark, husband of Priscilla R. Stark of Syracuse.

No details as to how Stark died were available.

Wilkerson Death Not Road Fatality

Omaha (UPI) — The traffic bureau of the Omaha Police Department said Wednesday the death of a 73-year old Omaha man will not be counted as a traffic fatality.

Judge To Rule Next Week On School Aid

Lancaster District Judge William Hastings will rule next week on the Omaha School District's request for a temporary injunction to prevent distribution of state aid funds which the district claims belong to it.

Following a hearing Wednesday, Judge Hastings gave both sides until Monday to submit further briefs and indicated that a date in April could probably be set for trying the case on its merits.

The Omaha schools are specifically seeking an order enjoining the State Board of Education from distributing $1,496,885 with the second half of state aid scheduled for distribution to Nebraska public schools April 1.

The school district contends that unless the money is held, any subsequent judgment in its favor would be ineffective because there would be no funds available.

The plaintiff is seeking an eventual order reversing the State Board of Education's action denying the district its application for waiver of the limitation provision of the School Foundation and Equalization Act passed by the 1967 Legislature.

NWU Trustees To Meet Friday

Ag Should Be Full Partner In Economy—Hardin

Hot Springs, Ark. (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin told delegates at the national convention of the Farmers Union that American agriculture should be a full partner in the national economy.

Hardin said the productive ability of farmers could be the major force in America to alleviate hunger and malnutrition.

Agriculture is the nation's biggest industry today, Hardin said, employing more people than the steel, automotive, utility and transportation industries combined.

The secretary also said it was "equally plain that the producers have not shared equitably in the benefits of the nations advancing technology."

"One of the most important problems the nation faces today is how we can turn the marvelous capacity of agriculture to good use at home and abroad . . . for use for producers and consumers alike," Hardin said.

'Indians Don't Take Lightly Religious Peyote Ceremonies'

Austin, Tex. (AP) — A University of Texas professor assured a Senate committee that members of the Native American Church don't take lightly their religious peyote ceremonies.

"They are not taking drugs for kicks . . . for psychedelic trips," said Dr. J. C. McAllister, professor of anthropology. "This is a serious, meaningful religious ceremony.

"Peyote is the most violently bitter, nauseating stuff a person could imagine . . . You would almost retch . . . It takes guts to take one of those meetings."

McAllister testified on a bill by Sen. Grady Hazlewood, Amarillo, which would restrict the use of peyote to the Native American Church, which he said has used it in its ceremonies for 500 to 600 years. Additionally a member would have to have 25% Indian blood to use peyote.

"I'm afraid some hippies might try to join the church," Hazelwood said.

McAllister said the church does not have more than three peyote meetings a year — "mostly when the boys are going or coming from Vietnam."

Indians who were at the hearing had come from Oklahoma, South Dakota, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, Arizona and Wisconsin.

A rainy morning in suburban Shady Acres. ("Low down payments. Close to transportation.")

"Can you tie the Brownie tie?" asked the Brownie leader. The small Brownie stood by while I retied the tie. It ties like a man's tie. But no man can tie a tie looking at it eyeball to eyeball.

You must put it around your neck and tie it. I put on the Brownie tie and tied it. Everybody sat around gasping with laughter. What's so funny?

☆ ☆ ☆

I said, "There." (The tie unsnaps in the back else I'd never get it off.)

Well, now it seems my neck is bigger than the Brownie's. So the tie knot needs to be shortened.

I said: "That's impossible. I can tie it, but I can't shorten it after it's tied."

Nonetheless, I tried to shorten it on the Brownie. She stood in front of me firing a string of questions.

"Are those whiskers sticking out of your chin? Why do you wear glasses? Why are your whiskers stickery? How many times a day do you brush your teeth?"

A female critique until I pushed her away and said: "Wear the tie long then."..

"Is he mad about something?" asked the Brownie. "Hush," said the Brownie leader. "Wait until he's had his coffee."

☆ ☆ ☆

The cats stay inside this kind of rainy morning. The silent Manx, the noisy Siamese.

Here's a lady psychologist puts a rap on men who wear jewelry. (And me with two new shirts that require cufflinks.)

"Jewelry shows a need to prove his masculinity," she said. "It may indicate latent effeminate tendencies." (Why do we print that kind of nattering?)

No time to be worrying whether I am too masculine or too feminine. And too late to do anything about it anyway.

☆ ☆ ☆

Speaking of that, we were offered a pedigreed boxer dog recently. And what fascinated me was the dog was in neutral you might say.

This dog was all set for dog shows, but he had a minor physical defect.

It didn't hurt his masculinity. Only his appearance. And then only if you went around looking for it. (It seems dog show judges do just that.)

"What about minor surgery?" I asked.

That faulted the dog, too, said the owner. Therefore I could have this faulty champion for a song.

I nearly sang. I wanted to get that dog just so I could liven up dinner parties.

"Do you know why my dog can't get into show biz?" Then if it was a broadminded group I would tell the sad story.

☆ ☆ ☆

I said to the Brownie: "You should learn to tie your own tie. When I was a Boy Scout, I could tie my tie. Also we tied another knot in it which we could not untie until we had done our Daily Good Deed."

We helped old ladies with bundles across the street.

A lot of old ladies around 35 got pretty mad when we explained what we were doing.

The Brownie said: "You shouldn't smoke. It says so on TV."

"Go to school," I said. And the rain came down and down.

Men Are Easier To Please?

New York (AP) — One out of every four American wives would pick another husband if they were starting out again, according to a Gallup poll published in the March issue of Family Circle magazine.

Only one in every 10 husbands, however, says he would have proposed to another girl if he had known as much about his wife then as he does now.

Why are women less satisfied with their mates than their husbands are?

Mary Gibson, who reported on the survey for the magazine, asks in reply: "Are wives eagerer to please; and do women work harder than men do to get a mate, to hold him, and to make him happy? Do women succeed at the cost of making their husbands more pleased with them than the wives are with their husbands? Or are husbands less aware of the human needs at home, too taken up with the outside demands of their careers, to live up to their wives' expectations?"

As a social partner, close companion and parent the man fared poorer than his mate in the representative sampling of the sexes. Women, too, were more critical of their spouses' devotion, personal appearance and mental growth.

Socially, only 58 per cent of American husbands meet their wives' expectations while 81 per cent of the men said their mates were well suited to their social needs.

Husbands, too, were more satisfied with their wives' physical appearance. One went so far as to say his wife "has become even more beautiful over the years." Only six per cent thought their mates didn't live up to expectations in looks. Twelve per cent of the wives found fault with how their men looked. "He has everything except looks," commented an Arizona carpenter's wife.

Questioned about companionship, 86 per cent of the husbands said they were satisfied while only 69 per cent of the wives felt their mates shared their interests and attitudes.

Wives were critical, too, of their mates' metal growth. Only 14 per cent of the men complained that their wives had failed to improve their minds while 24 per cent of the women felt their husbands weren't so bright and alert as they should be.

"She doesn't read much and never pays any attention to the news and things like that," said an Ohio telephone lineman of his wife of 12 years. "Sometimes she doesn't even know what is going on in the world."

Nine out of 10 men felt their wives were good mothers but only 2 out of 3 women felt their husbands were fulfilling the father role. "I wish he would spend a little less time and energy on his work and more on understanding and helping our children," said an Illinois banker's wife.

Only one in five wives, though, complained about their husbands as wage earners. It's a good thing, too, because husbands, 2-1, want their wives to be wage earners.

Women And Their Money

We've been told now and then that all women really know about money is how to spend it.

Wall Street doesn't agree with that old, moth-eaten theory, and to prove our point we present Philip Kimball of New York City, and of the New York Stock Exchange Information Service — Mr. Kimball believes that the average mature woman possesses more stock knowhow than she realizes.

She develops this knowledge, Mr. Kimball says, as she "becomes expert in buying and selling hundreds of consumer products—when she develops her judgment in making everyday decisions. She can lend this technique, this discrimination, to investing and securities."

Speaking before a group of hopeful female investors in New York City, Mr. Kimball said that despite their fears, female participation in the stock market has grown until today they represent more than 53 percent of shareholders. He expects the figure to be higher next year. There are even 24 hundred women brokers, he reported.

Mr. Kimball, who is also a stockbroker, said every woman owes it to herself and her family to learn the financial facts of life. In support of this belief, he pointed out that more and more women now support themselves completely or partially, that the average wife now tends to outlive her husband by at least seven years, and that more than $5 billion of yearly life insurance benefits go to wives at some point in their lives.

Women are especially sensitive to one investment incentive — the erosion of the purchasing power of the dollar, Kimball said, because they learn about inflation first hand by watching food costs rise.

He added that for the past five years the loss in purchasing power of the dollar has been just under 4 percent. If a woman has a bank account and receives 5 percent on her money, most of that is lost due to inflation. And there's her income tax. The woman who thinks she is standing still financially, he said, may actually be losing ground.

Kimball's suggestions to the neophte investor included these:

. Have an ample reserve for emergencies, such as life insurance and a savings account;

. Decide on the investment objective that's right for you and your circumstances;

. Always investigate before investing;

. Avoid tips; and —

. Seek reputable help.

For Your Keep-In-Mind File

Placing candles in the freezer for an hour or two, or in the refrigerator overnight, will make them burn evenly, slowly, and with no wax drippings, suggests Jean E. Laird.

This is just one of the hundreds of suggestions which will help make any woman a whiz in the kitchen, which are presented by Mrs. Laird in her new book titled "Around The Kitchen Like Magic." It will be published by Harper & Row on March 26.

From tips on planning parties to fixing faucets, Mrs. Laird gives advice on how to cope with a variety of kitchen problems. Some of the hints included in her book:

If a soup or stew is too salty, add a diced raw potato and boil for five minutes. Remove the potato and the excess salty flavor will also be gone.

To protect hands while cleaning paintbrushes put solvent or cleaning fluid into a plastic bag. Shove the brush into the solvent, and work the paint out, manipulating the bristles through the plastic.

The high gloss on waxed vinyl floor can be preserved between washings if, when washing the floor, a solution of 1 cup of fabric softener is added to ½ pail of water. It doesn't remove the wax!

Crayon marks can be removed from vinyl floor tile or linoleum if the area is cleaned with silver polish. This works even if the crayons have been dropped and stepped on.

Old plastic squirt bottles, used for mustard and catsup, can be filled with a solution of bleach and water. Squirt the solution on the grout which has mildewed between the wall tiles in the bathroom. Leave on overnight and in the morning all evidence of mildew will be gone. Rinse the grout with warm water to remove the bleach solution.

If you forgot to take the meat out of the freezer — DON'T soak it in cold water, it takes away much of the flavor. Instead, turn on the oven to about 175 degrees, unwrap the meat and place it in a pan. This amount of heat will not cook the meat, but will defrost it quickly.

A stick of cinnamon dropped into the cooking water when boiling shrimp will eliminate the fishy, iodine odor without affecting the taste of the seafood.

When It's Dinner For One

Dinner for one may be the loneliest meal in the world, but there's no excuse for its being a neglected or inadequate meal.

With the wide variety of frozen food products available in individual portions and in packages that allow cooking or serving only the amount needed, it's a simple matter to prepare delicious, nutritious meals for one.

Nutritionists and other medical authorities remind us that malnutrition is not necessarily restricted to the poor and underprivileged. Too many career girls, bachelors and the elderly who live alone show signs of poor health because their daily diets do not include the nutrients essential to keep their bodies functioning at top efficiency.

Fortunately, people who live alone and do not bother to cook for themselves, can find many of their favorite food specialties in freezer cabinets at supermarkets — completely prepared, ready to heat and eat.

A wide selection of frozen dinners, including foreign meals (Chinese, German, Italian, Mexican) is available. There are frozen dinners offering just the main course — a meat, poultry or seafood entree, along with vegetables — and dinners that include a first course soup and dessert.

For people who like to plan their own menus, there are frozen prepared main dishes ideally suited for generous single servings.

Among the frozen prepared dishes available are individual main dish pies (beef, chicken, turkey, tuna), cheese souffle, cheese rarebit, beef stroganoff, beef ragout, shrimp au gratin, shrimp creole, sweet and sour pork, chicken with mushrooms and water chestnuts, creamed chipped beef, tuna noodle casserole and macaroni and cheese.

The following menu is just one example of a typical dinner possibility from your grocer's freezer:

Dinner For One
From The Freezer

Orange Shrub (orange juice with orange sherbet)
Lobster Newburg in Patty Shells
Asparagus Spears with Lemon
Croissants
Chilled Grapefruit Sections with Halved Strawberries
Coffee, Non-Dairy Creamer

When planning menus featuring frozen prepared entrees, be sure to check the package labels. Most of them include helpful serving suggestions. For instance, frozen crab cakes are recommended for breakfast or brunch with toasted English muffins and orange marmalade or for Sunday supper with baked beans, cole slaw and Boston brown bread.

Recipe From Dijon

Each year a gastronomic fair is held in Dijon, the mustard capital of France, and the event draws gourmets from all over the world. While mustard in this country is frequently kept imprisoned between two slices of bread, the culinary artists of Dijon cook with mustard and liberate many dishes from the realm of the ordinary.

SHRIMP DIJON

- 2 pounds shrimp, fresh frozen, or 1½ pound package or bag peeled, deveined shrimp
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 1 medium onion, sliced thin
- ¼ cup flour
- 1½ cups milk
- 2 tablespoons prepared mustard
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 (6 oz.) package creamed cheese with chives

Clean shrimp if necessary and let thaw on paper towels to absorb moisture. Place butter in frying pan. Saute shrimp and onions for about 3 minutes; do not brown. Sprinkle flour into butter, thinning with milk gradually, to avoid lumping. Add mustard, nutmeg, salt, pepper, and cook 3 to 5 minutes. Stir in creamed cheese with chives and warm through. Do not boil. Serve over rice. Makes 6 servings.

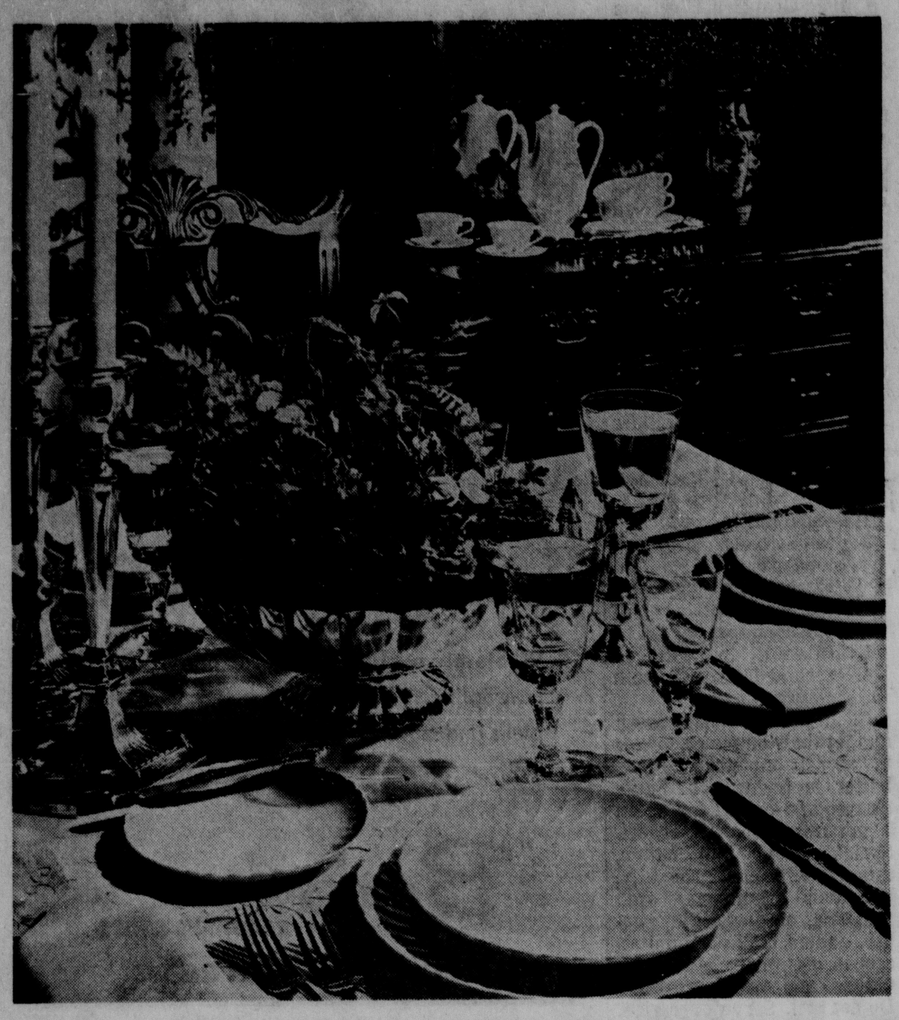
Every Well-Groomed Table Needs Basic Accessories



Just like that fabled little black dress that can be dressed "up or down" with accessories, a basic wardrobe of a simple white china and a classic crystal shape can be used for both formal dining and an informal party setting. Here a heavily embroidered white linen table cloth and napkins "dress up" this simple white china. The gracefully-proportioned crystal water goblets and wine glasses reflect the gleam of silver candlesticks and bowl.

Most young, working girls quickly learn the art of looking fashionable on a limited clothes budget and know the value of a simple, basic wardrobe. So, when they become engaged and married, they shouldn't find it too difficult to apply the same principle to their tables.

When the time comes to choose their china, crystal and silver patterns, they should look for something simple and well-shaped. Just bear in mind, that in the same way a simple, well-cut dress can be dressed "up or down" to look formal or informal, so, too, can the dining-room table in their first home. Accessories, such as tablecloths, placemats and napkins, can perform the same trick for a table as a casual scarf, or change of shoes and pocketbook can for a dress. These lesser expensive items can be easily switched around to create completely different moods.

Talk Around The Town

The Faculty Dancing Club couldn't have chosen a better theme for its Saturday night party at Hotel Lincoln — The theme is "Weather Whirl" and if that isn't apropos of the climatic spectacular which has been presented in an almost continuous performance since mid-December — But then — a new show may begin almost any minute.

The party planners for the dinner dance include Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Peo, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. John Bucy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dewey, Mr. and Mrs. Khem Shahani and Mr. and Mrs. James Vorst.

The "Weather Whirl" guest list is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Wicks, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roeth, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Trausch, Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Benedict, Mr. and Mrs. William Sutherland, Miss Vicki Besecker and Gordon Hauptman.

News of interest to Lincoln this morning comes from Quincy, Ill. It is an announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Majerus of the engagement of their daughter, Diane, to Charles Madison Brewer, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. Madison Brewer of State College, Pa., formerly of Lincoln.

The wedding will take place in June.

Miss Majerus attended St. Mary's College at Notre Dame, Ind., and was graduated from the University of Iowa from where she also received her Master's degree. She now is supervisor for audiology and instructor in the department of speech and drama at George Washington University, Washington D.C.

Mr. Brewer was graduated from Southeast High School in Lincoln, and was graduated from Pennsylvania State University where his father, formerly head of the department of elementary education at the University of Nebraska, is on the faculty. Activity In Suburbia

Currently topping the list of best-selling records in Lincoln is a song entitled "Dizzy," and a more appropriate adjective describing last weekend's activities in Lincoln could not have been chosen. With the state basketball tournament monopolizing most of the news, other goings-on were pushed into the background. But the basketball season is now over, and for our part we're going to catch up on some of the non-sporting news which has been made in the recent past.

In Rosemont last weekend the password was take-to-the-road — at least such was the case for residents Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spreier and children, Lonnie, Kristie and Sherrie. The Spreier family found the weather conditions ideal for travel, and the ensuing result was two trips and a great deal of visiting!

On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Spreier and children headed towards Omaha where they first called on Mr. and Mrs. Robert Musselman and son, Bob, of Millard. In Omaha they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Spreier and daughter, Susan. Incidentally, Mr. Spreier's mother, Mrs. Betty Spreier, accompanied the Rosemont residents during the Saturday travels.

Then on Sunday, the Spreier family motored to Byron where they had a visit with members of Mrs. Spreier's family, and where they were among the guests who attended a family dinner for which the hostess was Miss Lydia Marquart. Also on hand for the get-together were Mrs. Spreier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilburt Marquart; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Peters and children, Marsha and Rodney, of Hardy; and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rutland and son, Michael, of Byron. We understand that the guests of honor at the dinner were Mr. Marquart, Mr. Peters and Mrs. Spreier, all of whom observe March birthdays.

The weekend before last found South Hills residents Mr. and Mrs. George Pearce at their busiest, and all of the activity centered around their 25th wedding anniversary which occurred on March 7. Mr. and Mrs. Pearce planned to observe the occasion quietly by dining out with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Price, but when they arrived at their destination they were happily surprised to find two other couples — Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bond of Fremont, and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Weishahn — waiting to join the celebration.

Following dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Pearce and the three other couples returned to the Pearce home, where the second surprise of the evening, a party, was awaiting them. At that particular point, six more names were added to the guest list—Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Fridrich and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Churchill; and we understand that a number of people who had planned to come to Lincoln from out-state for the festivities were unable to do so because of inclement weather. Nevertheless, a good time was had by all, especially Mr. and Mrs. Pearce, who received many congratulatory wishes and a gift of silver from those attending the get-together.

Incidentally, the master-minds behind all of the secret plans were Mrs. Price and Mrs. Weishahn.

As everyone knows, future activities are the result of current planning, and it is just the latter which is presently keeping the Lincoln Heights home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sattler busy. Of course, the approaching June marriage of the Sattlers' daughter, Phyllis, and James Schmitz, entails a great deal of planning (ask any mother!); and we understand that Mrs. Sattler and son, Terry, are anticipating a bit of traveling during the Easter holiday.

Mrs. Sattler and Terry will motor to Jefferson City, Mo., where they will be the guests, for four or five days, of Mrs. Sattler's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Largent.

A new arrival at the Southbrook Summit address of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fleecs is keeping his seven-year-old brother, Jeff, and his sister, Jennifer, who is six, more than a little excited. Master Jay Michael Fleecs made his debut on Saturday, March 15. The proud maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Cliff McPherson of North Platte and the maternal grandmother is Mrs. George Fleecs of Sutherland.

Giving a baby shower isn't one of the activities we'd expect of a Camp Fire Girl group, but that is exactly what the Camp Fire Girls who are in the fifth grade at Calvert School did on Monday afternoon, March 17. Of course the honored guest, Mrs. Richard Clarence, who lives in the Southbrook Summit area, is a very special person to the girls because she has been their group's leader.

Helping the girls plan the party were their mothers, with Mrs. Robert Hanna and Mrs. Leslie Robbins assuming the roles as adult hostesses and Mrs. Robert Marks inviting the girls, their mothers and the honoree to her home for the late afternoon shower.

Axis Club Breakfast

An orientation breakfast has been planned for Axis Business and Professional Women's Club, to be held at 8 o'clock, Sunday morning, at the Hotel Cornhusker.

New members of the club, Mrs. Sharon Bramen, Miss Ena Lind and Miss Anna McLaughlin, will be recognized.

In charge of arrangements are Miss Mary Jackson, chairman of the Emblem committee, and Miss JoAnn Vipond, membership chairman.

Musical Program

A program of piano music was presented by Mrs. Norman Sundeen of Waverly, Monday afternoon, for the members and guests of the Nebraska Unicameral Ladies Club, who met for luncheon at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Club guests included Mrs. Ralph Hill, Mrs. William Brandt, Mrs. Perry Bronn, Mrs. Clyde Noyes, Mrs. Ross Rasmussen, Mrs. Arnold Ruhnke, Mrs. James Winter, Mrs. John Eckwald, Mrs. F. C. Mills, Mrs. James Brockhaus, Mrs. Bud Zinnecker and Mrs. Jerry Okrina.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Lester Harsh of McCook, and Mrs. Theodore Wenzlaff of Sutton.

Mrs. Don Elrod of Grand Island, and Mrs. Leslie Robinson of Kearney, will be hostesses to the club next Monday, at a luncheon to be held at Miller and Paine's tea room.

AAUW Program

A Legislative Day has been planned for members of the American Association of University Women in Nebraska, to be held Saturday, at the Hotel Lincoln.

Sponsored by the Omaha and Lincoln branches of the organization, the program will provide an opportunity for members to learn more about their state government, how it works, and current problems facing the legislature.

The morning session will open at 10:30 o'clock and will be conducted by Mrs. Leonard Campbell of Lincoln, AAUW Northwest Central Region vice president; Mrs. Arthur Welty, legislative chairman of the Omaha branch; and Mrs. Felix Summers, Lincoln branch legislative chairman.

Special guests for the noon luncheon will be State Senators Fern Orme of Lincoln; Edward Danner, Omaha, Lester Harsh, McCook, and William Swanson, Lincoln, who will discuss legislative programs and answer questions.

Panel Talks

The March dinner of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, held at 6 o'clock, Wednesday evening at the Legionaire Club, was followed by a panel, "Legislative Look-See."

Key bills of the current legislative session were discussed by State Senators J. W. Burbach of Crofton, Roland Luedtke of Lincoln, and Fern Orme of Lincoln, member of the division, who moderated the panel.

District Fine Arts Contest Scheduled

The annual fine arts competition sponsored by District I of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs will be held in Lincoln on Saturday, at the Lincoln Woman's Clubhouse.

Partial All-State music scholarships will be presented to three high school students in the area in vocal, piano and instrumental competition to be held Saturday morning beginning at 10 o'clock.

Fashions created by club members and high school senior girls in sewing competition will be exhibited at a style show to be presented at 1:15 o'clock.

Contest entries in arts and crafts also will be displayed, and the public is invited to attend.

District winners will compete at the state convention of the Nebraska Federation, to be held later this spring.

Opening lead — jack of spades.

If you lose a trick you don't have to lose but get back two in exchange, you show a clear profit on the transaction.

The opportunity for such a trade doesn't occur very often, and even when it does, it is all too frequently overlooked. The reason is largely psychological, since players have a great aversion to deliberately losing a trick they can win.

Take this hand where South was in six hearts. West led a spade, won by South with the ace. Declarer drew trumps and eventually played the ace and a low club, hoping the king would win the trick. When it didn't, he went down one.

Actually, South had a much better shot at the slam by adopting a method of play that did not depend on finding either opponent with the singleton or doubleton king of clubs. (There was only about a 10% chance of this happening.)

South should have cashed the ace of diamonds at trick two and then led a low trump towards the nine. In the actual case, this unusual play would have landed the contract.

West could do no better than take his ten, but, whatever he returned, South would be able to enter dummy with a trump and discard two clubs on the K-Q of diamonds.

Declarer should reason he has a 50% chance of finding West with the ten of hearts, and that the slam is very likely to be made if this is the case.

He should be willing to sacrifice a trump trick in an effort to reach dummy and utilize the K-Q of diamonds.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I've got mother-in-law trouble — but not the kind you usually hear about.

I am 33 and my mother-in-law is 45, and a real swinging divorcee. She's the kissy type, always kissing me hello and good-by, even when I'm only going into the next room.

If I sit down, Maureen (that's her name) is on my lap in two seconds. She's always wanting me to dance with her, and when she cuddles up, her instincts are anything but maternal.

My wife doesn't even notice, and thinks it's great that her mother likes me so much. Abby, it's gotten so I dread being left alone with Maureen. How can I chill her without making an issue of it?

A SON-IN-LAW

DEAR SON-IN-LAW: First start calling her "Mother" instead of Maureen. Then tell her you don't feel like dancing, and she's too heavy to hold on your lap. If she's still in your hair, you must be doing something wrong. I've yet to meet a 33-year-old man who couldn't run faster than his mother-in-law.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this for "WEAK TUMMY" who gets "sick" to her stomach at the thought of eating at a relative's house where the dishes are washed in the same sink the baby is bathed.

I am 13, and I still remember taking baths in the kitchen sink. It was great fun! I want to add that my mother is probably the cleanest woman alive.

ANDREE

DEAR ABBY: When our twins arrived, shortly after World War II, the only place we could find to rent was a three-room apartment with a shower — no tub. Luckily we had a double sink in the kitchen, and that's where I bathed the babies for a year. (I fastened one on the drainboard by her diaper while I bathed the other.)

If I had any concern about "germs," it was that the babies be free from contamination. I scrubbed the sink very well BEFORE and AFTER each baby bath, and if our guests ever threw up after eating here I never knew about it.

Favors Are Gifts Of Whitehall Girls

A little bit of thoughtfulness can provide a great deal of cheer fo others — and those who believe that teen-agers think only of themselves can be very wrong.

The teen-age girls in Cottage 3 at Whitehall Home are very thoughtful and spent a great deal of time making St. Patrick's Day favors and decorations for every resident at Tabitha Home. The residents all may not be Irish but it certainly seemed so on Monday when the junior and senior high schoolers distributed the gay, emerald green favors.

Miss Gilsdorf was presented a kitchen shower at the recent party for which Mrs. J. E. Kruger and Mrs. C. P. Karthauser were hostesses at the Union Loan and Savings party room, and honoring the bride-to-be recently at a miscellaneous shower were Miss Sue Carlton and Mrs. Ralph Williams who were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Maurice Carlton.

Filing Ends With 33 Candidates For City Council, 9 For Airport Authority, 10 For School Board

The deadline for filing for city offices up for election this spring ended Wednesday with 33 candidates filing for City Council, nine for the Airport Authority and ten for the Board of Education.

Influencing the record turnout of candidates seeking the three City Council seats were the decisions of the three councilmen, whose terms were up, not to run.

Deciding against re-election were Councilmen Lloyd Hinkley, John Comstock and Carroll Thompson.

A number of candidates said they were influenced by the three councilmen's decisions.

The 33 candidates will be narrowed to six at the April 8 primary election.

Swihart Files For Air Unit

Fred Swihart, 49, of 1610 Susan Circle, filed Wednesday for election to the Airport Authority.

Swihart, an attorney said he is interested in seeing that the potential of the Lincoln airport is fully used in attracting business to the city.

"I am interested in the expansion and development of the airport facilities which would result in both new and increased business for Lincoln," he said.

A licensed pilot, he is an area legislative representative for the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association and writes a regular article called "Law for the Aviator" for the Nebraska State Department of Aeronautics bi-monthly periodical.

Swihart served as an assistant city attorney from 1961 until last year.

Civil Rights Move's 'Great Failure' Told

By DAVE ZIMMERMAN
Star Staff Writer

James Farmer told a packed hall of University of Nebraska students Wednesday that he could not "conceive of integration between the proud and the unproud," which he said accounts for the "great failure" of the civil rights movement of the last decade.

"We were running up a down escalator," he said. "The victories which we won during that great decade have notc hanged the life situation of the average black person in this country."

"I can now buy a hotdog, ride in the front of a bus," Farmer said, "but while we did win the hotdog, we did not win what it represented."

Better Life

"We did succeed in making life better for those rich and talented enough to fit into the middle class, but what does the victory mean to the poor — he's still worried about the problems bearing down on him.

"The rats still bite, the cockroaches still share the family food, a job is nonexistent and then we tell him he can eat at Howard Johnson's."

The new assistant secretary of health education and welfare and the first Negro to accept a high position in the Nixon cabinet, he also hit upon the statistical failure of civil rights.

More Poor Blacks

"While the number of poor white families has decreased, the number of black poor families has increased."

"But the black Ph.D. has it made; he can get a job anywhere. And the black college grads — the top one-half have more job offers than they can even answer."

"But many soon realize that their employers were only looking for a 'showcase Negro,' someone they'll have sit next door looking 'very Negro.'"

Farmer, who helped found the Congress on Racial Equality (CORE) in 1942 and who led the first "freedom ride," said that it is now time for blacks to "reassess and re-evaluate what went wrong" with the fight for integration.

Racism Underestimated

One mistake of the movement, he said, was that it underestimated the "force and impact of racism in American society."

"All of us, blacks and whites, have been programmed, 'brainwashed,' if you will, with racist ideas which are like a miasma through our entire culture."

"Most of us do not see separatism as the answer," he said. "I love Africa not as a home but the place of my roots and heritage."

Despite Farmer's strong undertone of the nearly impossible odds against an end to racial problems in the near future, he affirmed that he has "not given up the dream."

Crash Claims Third Victim

John B. Wienke, 72, Howells, died Wednesday afternoon in a West Point hospital of injuries suffered in the crash.

Killed outright were his wife, Cecelia, 61, and Mrs. Henry Westermann, 76, both of Howells.

The Wienke's daughter, LaVerna, 39, remained hospitalized with injuries suffered in the crash.

The truck driver, Allen Hassler, 49, Sioux City, escaped injury.

The death raised the 1969 Nebraska traffic toll to 74, compared to 87 on this date one year ago.

120-Unit Housing Project Urged

A 120-unit scattered-site housing project which would be financed by the federal government was recommended for Lincoln at a Housing Help, Inc., meeting Wednesday.

Irving Gereck of Chicago, regional director of Urban America, a national nonprofit housing organization, spoke at the meeting and made suggestions for workable housing programs for Lincoln.

Action on the 120-unit plan was deferred until the April Housing Help board meeting, but a variation of one of Gereck's recommendations was adopted by the board only last month.

The board at that time agreed to go ahead with single older home rehabilitation and plan to purchase a home within 60 days. The home will then be rented or sold to a low-income family.

Gereck's plan, under two homeowners' sections of the 1968 Federal Housing Act, included rehabilitation of five to eight units for sale to low-income families. He noted that interest rates on mortgages could be lowered to 1%, with the difference paid by the government.

There are about 45,000 to 50,000 living units in Lincoln, Gereck said, but about 70% were built prior to 1930. And, he added, rebuilding is now at the rate of about 400 a year. It should be about 1,000 annually, he said.

The 120-unit plan would help the situation, Gereck said, and should be started soon. He suggested that about 40 houses be built on three sites with 12 to 15 units to the acre. The housing would be for both elderly persons and low-income families.

Gereck also recommended the participation of Lincoln churches to aid Housing Help in accomplishing the programs it undertakes. He said that churches would be able to either sponsor homes under the rehabilitation program or contribute money and time for other projects.

According to one member at the meeting, one Lincoln church has already purchased a home and is rehabilitating it for sale or rent by a low-income family.

At next month's meeting, Housing Help, which organized about one year ago, will elect new officers and reorganize and restate aims, policies and programs.

Probe Continues Into Burglary Of Odell Bank

Odell (UPI) — Gage County authorities and the Federal Bureau of Investigation were continuing their probe Wednesday into the Sunday burglary of the State Bank of Odell.

Bank President Gene Stanoschek said less than $100 was taken.

A passerby discovered the break-in about 8 a.m. Sunday when he noticed that the front door of the bank was open.

The intruder or intruders rifled drawers, ransacked the building and scattered papers on the floor. Two hand guns, automatic pistols, were also taken.

Investigating officers said no attempt was made to enter the main vault.

Some type of pry bar was used to open the front door.

Dr. Marcy Leaving Health Department

Dr. Deane S. Marcy, deputy director of the State Health Department for the past nine months, will join the Nebraska-South Dakota Regional Medical Program on April 1, The Star learned Wednesday.

Dr. Harold S. Morgan, regional coordinator, said Dr. Marcy will assume administration of the coronary care training program.

The Regional Medical Program, federally funded and headquartered in Lincoln, is designed to bring the latest advancements in medical knowledge to physicians and allied medical personnel in the two states.

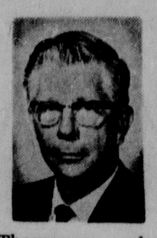
Retired Navy Surgeon

Dr. Marcy, a retired Navy surgeon, joined the state department last July as deputy director and chief of its Bureau of Health Care Services.

The post included general supervision of Medicare, hospital and medical facilities division, licensing, public health services and emergency health services.

Dr. Marcy said he resigned the state post for personal reasons.

His resignation follows that of State Health Director Dr. Lynn W. Thompson, who leaves June 1.



DEANE MARCY
Resigns Post

Dr. Marcy noted he is "favorably impressed" with the progress made by Dr. Thompson in reorganizing and updating the department since becoming its director.

Dr. Marcy, 57, served 28 years in the Navy Medical Corps following his graduation from the University of Nebraska College of Medicine in 1939.

His Navy career included chief of surgical services for the U.S. Naval Academy, assignment to the White House medical staff during the Kennedy administration, and commanding officer of the Quantico, Va., naval hospital.

Some Inspection Stations Reported Back In Business

Some motor vehicle inspection stations are back in business, using new regulations supplied by the Legislature, Director of Motor Vehicles Emmett J. Dennis Jr. reported Wednesday.

Although the effective date for resuming the mandatory program isn't until April 1, Dennis said the stations were instructed they could resume inspections once they received the new standards and the proper car stickers.

After the Legislature rejected the original guidelines, inspection stations were in suspense until the lawmakers put together new regulations.

Since there was a postponement of the program, vehicles which otherwise would have had to be inspected in March have been given to the end of April to meet inspection requirements.

Library Board To Set Up Group To Support Issue

The Library Board, at a special meeting Wednesday, voted to set up an organization of persons interested in campaigning for the $2.35 million city bond issue, which will appear on the May general election ballot.

Included in the bond request is $860,000 for two branch ilbraries — one in northeast and another in southeast Lincoln.

The board voted last week to support the proposed bond issue and will spend the next two weeks in organizing and locating persons to head the campaign.

Although the board works without funds, Board President Jack Hart said, it will be using all other possible means to bring information on the bond issue to the public.

Tiemann Okays $36,000 To Aid Snow Removal

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann said Wednesday he has approved applications for $36,164.22 in emergency snow removal aid from six towns and one county.

The funds were made available by a bill appropriating $1 million to help counties and cities dig out from the heavy snows which hit the state this winter.

Pierce County received the bulk of the funds approved, Tiemann said. He said the northeastern Nebraska county had asked for and received $28,325.36.

The six cities which received funds and the amounts they will receive: Verdigre $462.04; Stanton $1,975.93; Garland, $467.09; Fullerton, $1,308.66; Plainview, $2,367.61; and Coleridge $1,257.53.

The funds are given to the cities and counties on a 90-10 matching basis after they have spent an amount for snow removal equal to one mill times the total assessed valuation in the county or town.

Swedish Expert Hits Nebraska Plan For Care Of Retarded

A Swedish mental retardation expert told Nebraskans Wednesday that the most profoundly retarded persons should be moved into special hospitals that provide extensive care.

Dr. Karl Grunewald, head of the Swedish National Office of Mental Retardation in Stockholm, voiced vigorous objections to the Nebraska plan for decentralizing care for retarded persons. He spoke at a meeting of the Governor's Citizens Committee on Mental Retardation and the Inter-Agency Committee on Mental Retardation.

Grunewald declared that "life maintenance patients" should not be moved into nursing homes as outlined in the Nebraska plan. The most profoundly retarded persons should "be in special hospitals," he said.

If profoundly retarded children and adults are placed in nursing homes, "nothing will happen to these patients for the rest of their lives," he warned.

These people should not be relegated to such an existence "when we don't know what will happen in the next 10 years" in research and other developments.

Even the most profoundly retarded should be "taken out of bed and given stimulation. You will change the whole picture for such a child," Grunewald emphasized.

Grunewald, who is also chief editor for the Scandinavian Journal on Mental Retardation, has toured retardation facilities in Beatrice, Omaha and Lincoln since arriving in Nebraska.

Sweden began decentralizing facilities for the retarded about 10 years ago. Each of the country's 28 counties must provide services for all levels of retarded persons, he explained.

Counties pay the entire cost for caring for retarded persons. Families who maintain a retarded person in the home are paid $800 per year.

Grunewald boasted that even with the government program, Sweden has more privately owned facilities for the retarded than the U.S. has. However, the county pays the entire cost and determines the patient program in private units, he admitted.

Grunewald pointed out that "it is always easy to find people to work with children and the mentally retarded" in Sweden. He also noted that there are "never objections" to building any kind of facilities for the retarded.

Nebraskans must make "better combinations" of facilities for the retarded than described in the state plan, he declared. He indicated that the proposal was not complete in that the many service centers were not planned to operate in a coordinated manner.

Planners OK 62nd, Cotner Community Unit Plan

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday gave approval to Bankers Life Nebraska on a special permit request for a community unit plan in the vicinity of 62nd and Cotner.

The recommendation to grant the permit was approved after commissioners agreed to suspend rules forbidding voting on an item presented during a public hearing. The plan would normally have been acted on at the next meeting.

The insurance company requested the suspension of rules so that the community unit plan could be considered by the City Council next Monday along with a final plat for the area already scheduled for council consideration at the Monday meeting.

The land is located between Cotner Blvd. and the north parking lot of Gateway Shopping Center and from 62nd to 63rd Sts.

The community unit plan proposes 180 dwellings in a series of building groups connected by balconies with a total number of 360 off-street parking spaces. A swimming pool and clubhouse are also proposed.

Planning Director Douglas Brogden had recommended to the commission that it approve the special permit request providing the insurance firm made certain modifications in the plan.

Cities Facing Costly Road Repairs

By Associated Press

One of the most brutal Nebraska winters in recent years, already costly in some areas in terms of salt, sand and overtime hours required to keep roads clear, presents a more complex and costly problem to many cities.

Street departments anticipate some maintenance after any winter's normal marathon of freezing, thawing and refreezing which allows moisture to run into pavement cracks and then expands as the temperature falls.

Edward F. Stapowich, meterologist in charge of the Omaha Weather Bureau, said Omaha for example, received only 36 inches of snow during the winter when 32 is considered normal.

But crews are facing problems that many officials say are almost unprecedented.

"But what made it so outstanding for the Omaha people, is in fact that for the past three years only half of the normal amount fell," he said.

But he said a 100-mile band just 80 miles west of Omaha in an area from south of Grand Island to the northeast corner of Nebraska received total accumulations of 30 to 50 inches.

Sunshine during January was the least since records began in 1871, he said, and snow stayed on the ground most of the winter; a winter that was the wettest in 39 years in the heavy snowfall area.

Though unpleasant, he said, the heavy snowafll proved beneficial by protecting the roads from extremes of temperatures and the constant freezing and thawing.

Even more damage was probably incurred on roadways in the southeastern and southern portions of the state where refreezing was common, rather than in the heavy snow band, he said.

Hall County Highway Supt. Dan Hostler said some gravel roads in the county have become impassable, others are in "pretty bad" shape; many will require blading down of ruts and re-graveling when they dry out.

'Cold Mix'

North Platte Mayor Ken Huebner says temporary patching is being done with a "cold mix", which will be replaced later with a permanent surfacing.

Hastings city road crews have their work cut out for the summer, most of which officials said would be required to repair winter damage. Officials said at best the regular street maintenance program is expected to suffer.

About 100 city blocks will have to be reworked, meaning about 30% of the streets will have to be rebuilt and sealed. And some of the Adams County oil mat roads are becoming spongy while nearly every mile of gravel road will have to be re-graveled.

Columbus officials aren't even placing a price tag on the work needed but estimates are the work will cost two to three times as much as normal.

Grand Island appropriated $5,000 for patching streets. Arterial streets alone are now expected to require $8,000 worth of work and the total bill could easily be twice that amount.

Public Works Director H. R. Christensen said arterial routes will be fixed by midsummer. Hopefully the entire job will be completed by early fall, just in time for a new damage cycle.

York City Administrator Jack Kidder said the city suffered the most serious deterioration of streets since the winter of 1959-60.

And County Highway Commissioner Blaine Charlton said county roads are in bad shape and "we're not making much headway."

Fremont Street Commissioner James B. Moran said the cost of recovering from street damage will be much higher than in recent winters.

Omaha Mayor A. V. Sorensen said his city plans to take six weeks when the weather clears to do the repair with the help of both city employes and private contractors.

Sorensen said the problem this year was worse than ever before.

About 50 city employes, more than twice the usual number, are patching chuckholes.

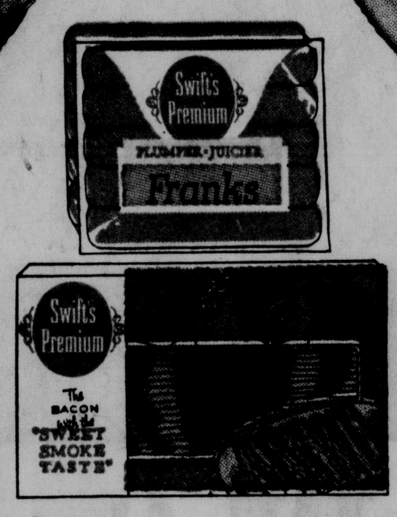
3 COLOR process



For Brunch, Eggs Florentine: a continental treat that's perfect for the late-morning weekend breakfast. Start with plenty of Swift's Premium Bacon, the lean, mild bacon with the sweet-smoked taste. Arrange slices around fried eggs on a bed of spinach. Top with Mornay Sauce: melt 2 tbsp. butter or margarine. Blend in 2 tbsp. flour and ¼ tsp. salt. Remove from heat. Gradually add 1½ cups milk. Return to heat and cook until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Reduce heat, add 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese, stir until melted.

For Lunch, Franks Oregano: or, franks like you've never tasted franks before. Start with the best: Swift's Premium Franks, the ones that are plump and juicy whether you simmer, broil or grill them. Slit ten franks lengthwise to form pockets. Stuff with ⅔ cup diced canned Italian tomatoes, drained; ½ cup grated Cheddar cheese; ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese; 1 garlic clove, minced; ½ tsp. oregano; ¼ tsp. sugar. Place the franks on foil on a rack in broiler pan and broil 5 minutes. Serve on slices of French bread, with Parmesan-topped green noodles. Garnish with red pepper.

For Appetizers, Sausages Italiénne: a trayful of tidbits with an Italian flair. It all begins with several varieties of Swift's Premium Old World Sausage (available in packaged slices or in bulk). There's Hard Salami, Peperoni, Summer Sausage, Italian Salami, Thuringer, Cervelat and Genoa Salami. Fill the slices with olives, green pepper and cherry tomatoes and cubes of Mozzarella, Gorgonzola, Parmesan and Provolone cheeses.

Swift's Premium

For Supper: Sausage Pizza, of course! Take Swift's Premium Brown 'N Serve Sausages . . . the fully-cooked, all-meat sausages that go from package to plate in only three minutes. Cut links in half, then in half lengthwise. Place on any tomato and cheese pizza (frozen, packaged or made-from-scratch) and bake. So go Italian! All four recipe ideas have been carefully planned and tested in the Martha Logan Kitchens of Swift.

Sterling Ace Tops Lineup

. . . CLASS D ALL-STATERS

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Sterling's Calvin Christline, a returning all-stater from the Class C ranks who led his Jets to a state championship this winter, heads the 1969 Lincoln Star Class D all-state high school basketball team.

Elmwood's Don Ferguson and Tom Ridenour of Loomis, who were both on the honor roll a year ago, are joined by Amherst's Ken Bosshamer and Roger Urback of Callaway to complete the all-senior quintet.

Christline broke an all-time school career record by pouring 1,912 points through the hoop in his four years at Sterling. The old mark of 1,880 was held by Joey Rathe, brother of Sterling coach Larry Rathe.

Christline also upped his own single season record of 687 points set last winter, when he tallied 717 points during his senior campaign.

The 6-6 sharpshooter connected on 308 of his 630 field goal attempts this year, for a .488 average and 101 of 155 free throw chances for a .652 mark.

Ferguson, who led his Elmwood five in handing Sterling its only defeat by a Class D opponent, failed in a chance to appear at the state tournament when the Pirates dropped a close one-point game to Sterling in the regional playoffs.

Ferguson, a fine defensive player and a good ball handler and passer, also was dangerous from the field. The speedy 5-10 guard hit on 47 per cent of his shots while compiling a 16.1 per game scoring average.

Ridenour, another top scoring threat, led Loomis to a 22-2 record on the year. The Wolves suffered an upset loss in district play, but Ridenour averaged 23.6 points a game for the season, with 567 points during his senior season.

The 6-5 pivot man was a strong rebounder, averaging 17 caroms per game, and totaled 1,495 points and 1,260 rebounds during his four-year career.

Bosshamer, at 5-9 the shortest on the all-star team, has had to get his points with longer-range, outside shots. The Amherst standout came up with 638 points on the season, connecting on 262 of 597 field goal tries, and had a fine 78 per cent at the charity stripe on 114 of 149.

Playing less games than the others, he averaged 30.9 points per game.

Urback, a rugged rebounder despite being a shade under six feet tall, pulled down over 20 off the backboards each game this year.

Though many clubs double teamed Roger, the Callaway standout hit 57 per cent of his field goal attempts while scoring 484 points and 71 per cent of his free throws while averaging 24.2 points per game.

Six outstanding performers were bunched just a notch back of the top five. Those most closely pressing the starters for first team honors were Tom Hill, from Falls City Sacred Heart, Steve Grossart of Wolbach, Robin Stevens of Eustis, Randy Coleman of Paxton, Milligan's Gary Filipi and Larry Mead of Snyder.

Rod Thorn (44) of the Seattle Supersonics drives between Darrall Imhoff (18) and Matt Guokas (14) of the Philadelphia 76ers to score a layup in a National Basketball Association game in Philadelphia Wednesday night. The 76ers won, 136-115.

Bruins Choice To Win

Louisville, Ky. (AP) — Mighty UCLA and the awesome Lew Alcindor are lop-sided favorites to win a record third consecutive NCAA baketball championship this weekend.

The Bruins are a 13-point choice over surprising Drake in the nightcap of today's semifinal round doubleheader. North Carolina and Purdue are rated about even in the opener at 6:40 p.m., CST.

The winners advance to the title game at 3:15 p.m., CST, Saturday. The format, playing tonight and Saturday afternoon, is new this year. Previously, the semifinals were played Friday night and the finals Saturday night.

All games will be televised nationally by NBC-TV.

UCLA's Bruins, dubbed by Drake coach Maury John "a super team with several super stars," take the nation's top ranking and a fantastic record of success into the semifinals.

They've won four of the last five national titles, including two in a row. And, since the 7-foot-1 Alcindor appeared on the scene, they've lost only two games in three seasons.

Alcindor, possibly the most outstanding collegiate player in the hitory of the game, has compiled an equally outstanding personal record — three times All-American, twice Player of the Year.

They're physically healthy and, according to coach John Wooden, mentally and emotionally ready to make their bid to become the first team in history to win three consecutive national titles.

"Our biggest problem is final exams," Wooden said Wednesday after the team arrived from Los Angeles. Drake, North Carolina and Purdue also made late afternoon arrivals and each took a one-hour workout.

"It's our first practice since before the regionals," Wooden said. "We've had final exams and had to lay off. I don't think it will make too much difference. We've reached a point that we hadn't attained in some time."

The Bruins, 27-1, demonstrated that in their 90-52 rout on third-ranked Santa Clara in the finals of the West Regional last weekend, possibly their best performance since a revenge victory over Houston in last year's national semifinals.

UCLA and Drake, ranked No. 11 with a 25-4 mark, have no injury problems. But it's a different story for North Carolina, No. 4 and 27-3, and Purdue, No. 6 and 22-4.

Tar Heel coach Dean Smith said Dick Grubar, a three-season starter and quarterback of the team, is out with a knee injury.

And Purdue's George King said 7-foot Chuck Bavis, the team's top rebounder, underwent surgery for a shouler separation Monday and definitely is out. Herman Gilliam, the No. 2 scorer on the team, is listed as a doubtful starter because of an injury to his Achilles tendon.

Tigers Lose Bill Freehan Via Accident

Lakeland, Fla. (AP) — Detroit's Tigers were left temporarily without an experienced catcher Wednesday when Bill Freehan's nose was shattered by a pitch from Jim Northrup during practice.

Doctors at the Tigers' spring training camp said Freehan would have to remain completely inactive until Monday, with a gauze protective mask covering the middle of his face.

After that, they said, it would be a week to 10 days before Freehan could resume training.

Freehan was still tapping the plate with his bat when the ball struck him, cracking the bone along the upper left portion of the nose.

Freehan

"Jim shouted and I looked up just in time to get smashed," Freehan said.

"It was stupid of me not to look before I threw the thing," said Northrup. "I could kick myself for being so dumb."

The Tigers' other experienced catcher, Jim Price, is still recuperating from pulled muscles below his rib cage and is undergoing a series of heat treatments.

"I feel like I may be able to play by the end of the month," Price said.

The Tigers' only catchers are rookie Joe Cernich and minor leaguer Hector Valle, who batted .197 for Jacksonville last season.

"They had to break the bone completely and then reset it at the clinic," Freehan said at the clubhouse, still wearing his blood-spattered uniform and looking pale and weak.

Doctors took several stitches to close the cut in the catcher's nose.

N. Orleans Gets 1970 Super Bowl

Palm Springs, Calif. (AP) — The 26 club owners of the National and American Football Leagues took time out from their 1970 realignment problems Wednesday to move the 1970 Super Bowl from Miami to New Orleans.

By a vote that Commissioner Pete Rozelle said was not unanimous, the Super Bowl returns to an NFL city for the first time since the first game, which was in Los Angeles in 1967.

The pro football title game between the champions of the two leagues has been in Miami's Orange Bowl the past two years. The 1970 game will be played Jan. 11 in the Sugar Bowl, which seats approximately 81,000, about 5,000 more than the Orange Bowl.

"We couldn't improve on what we had in Miami," Rozelle said, "but we also think New Orleans is a great site. The people there have shown tremendous interest in professional football. This also balances out NFL and AFL cities for the four years."

Rozelle said the move for 1970 does not set any sort of pattern for the game. "We've stayed loose on this since the first year."

Following the 15-minute discussion and vote on the site of the game, the owners once again broke up in to separate groups to continue their studies of plans for the 1970 season.

There were still at least four AFL owners who were holding out for realignment of the 26 teams as opposed to retention of the present setup of 16 NFL teams and 10 AFL teams. And there was some indication that more owners were beginning to sympathize with the other four — Cincinnati, Denver, Miami and New York.

In fact, it would no longer be surprising if the AFL eventually unites together in seeking realignment in a form other than the plan that was recommended Monday on the first day of the winter meetings. That plan calls for the addition of inter-league games in the present setup.

Bucks Get 1st Pick

. . . EXPECTED TO SELECT ALCINDOR

New York (AP) — They flipped over Lew Alcindor, the UCLA great, Wednesday and the coin came up tails, just right for the tailend Milwaukee Bucks of the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division, who may have to give up a million bucks to get him.

The Phoenix Suns, also seeking their place in the NBA, but a dismal last in the circuit's Western Division, were the losers. The Suns, represented by their president, Richard Bloch, called heads in the coin-tossing ceremony conducted via a telephonic conference call.

There was a tense atmosphere in the New York office of NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy, where the coin-tossing was done. The half dollar he threw into the air drew firmer the lines for a possible million dollar war between the NBA and the fledgling American Association over the services of one of the most widely sought basketball players in years.

Pandemonium broke out in the Bucks' office in Milwaukee when it was determined that they would have the No. 1 choice in next month's NBA draft. Yet, no Milwaukee official would admit that the pick would be Alcindor, although it was agreed that any team would have to go high to land the towering, 7-foot-1½ Bruins' standout.

"I don't want to get specific about names," said John Erickson, the Bucks' general manager. "We will get together soon with Coach Larry Costello and his assistant, Tom Nissalke, and see what our needs are and who is available for the draft."

Wes Pavalon, millionaire chairman of the board for the Milwaukee team, was asked if the Bucks would match the $1 million offer reportedly made by the ABA for Alcindor. Milwaukee is a public owned club.

"We could go to the stockholders, who are fans from the entire state of Wisconsin, and ask them for money," Pavalon replied. "But, remember, I'm a Bucks' fan, too."

Alcindor, a three-time All-American, winds up his college career this weekend in Louisville, Ky. where the Bruins are seeking a record third consecutive NCAA title. Reports that the New York Nets of the ABA had obtained the right to negotiate with the former New York schoolboy in a secret draft were denied both by the league and the Nets. However, many observers believe that the ABA's survival is contingent on its acquisition of the UCLA giant.

"I don't think that any player in any sport can mean the success or failure of any league," said Kennedy. "We can stand the loss of any player and still exist. But we would like to have Alcindor join the rest of the great basketball players in our league."

Some of the NBA teams had to go high to get them. The San Diego Rockets reportedly gave Elvin Hayes, former Houston star, a three-year contract totaling $440,000. Bill Bradley of the New York Knicks is working on one amounting to $500,000 over four years, and Baltimore's Wes Unseld signed another for about $300,000, which he's to receive over a three or four-year period.

Meanwhile, Phoenix, which has won only 16 of 79 games, appeared reasonably certain that Milwaukee will draft Alcindor. "I'm disappointed, of course," said Jerry Colangelo, the Suns' general manager.

—HUSKERS FALL, 4-3, 2-1—

Houston Tops NU Twice In Twin Bill

Houston (AP) — The University of Houston used good pitching and timely hitting Wednesday to defeat Nebraska in a college baseball doubleheader. The Cougars took the first game 4-3 and the second, 2-1.

Don Hill tripled and scored the winning run with two out in the ninth in the first game after Nebraska third baseman Tom Tidball threw wildly to first after fielding a ground ball by Trey Williams.

Houston picked up a run in the third inning on a home run by pitcher Larry Taylor and added two more in the fourth on first baseman Art Toombs' two-run homer.

Nebraska put together three Houston errors for one run in the second inning and scored two more in the third on a two run homer by Ron Johnette.

In the second game James Ripple allowed the Cornhuskers only two hits in the seven inning contest. The Cougars scored two in the fourth on Phil Rose's single, Jim Sparkman's double and a sacrifice fly. Bob Griego singled in Nebraska's only run in the first inning.

Wesleyan Baseballers Out To Best 2-15 Record

By JOHN HINES
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska Wesleyan's 1969 baseball team started workouts Monday of this week and the big problem facing coach Irv Peterson is getting some good practices in before the opening doubleheader against John F. Kennedy College March 29.

Most of the same cast that struggled through a 2-15 season last year will be back again, although the Plainsmen lost their leading hitter, catcher-outfielder Rick Boals, via the scholastic route rather than graduation.

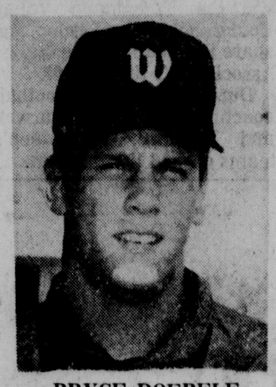
Boals hit .310 for a club that swatted only .213 as a team through the 17-game campaign. Leading returning hitter is outfielder Bryce Doebele, who hit .304. Graduated first baseman Jerry Motz was the only other regular a year ago to hit .300, winding up at exactly that figure.

"We shouldn't be too bad this year," said Peterson. "Defensively, we should be pretty good, but we've got to get some pitching; that's what beat us last year."

Opposing batters teed off on Wesleyan hurlers for a .330 batting average and scored 135 runs off them last year.

Veterans Tom Ochsner (1-6) and Dave Irwin (1-1) will bear the burden of NWU's mound work this year. "They'll probably throw about half our games," says Peterson of the two pitchers who won for the Plainsmen lastyear. Ochsner stopped Dana, 10-3, and Irwin beat Northwest Missouri, 11-2.

Other probable starters for Wesleyan in a scheduled 24-game season this year are letterman Scott Pfeutze (0-1) and freshman Earl Nannen, who pitched for Norris' state Class B finalists the last two years.



BRYCE DOEBELE

Letterman Stan Weiss and one other freshman pitcher to be determined will likely handle the relief chores.

Speedy Frank Irions will probably be back in centerfield and Giles Lowder behind the plate, leaving one outfield spot and first base open at this time, although Ochsner, who hit .333 on a limited number of times at bat last year, could play first when not on the mound.

Wesleyan's best depth is at the remaining infield spots, for the Plainsmen have vets Steve McKelvey, Jerry Colvert, Rex Mercer, Dean Eden and Bob Vasatka to shift around at second short and third, where they all split time a year ago. The graduated Dick Morris saw a lot of action at third, too.

Assisting Peterson as coaches are Jim Mason and Mike Thompson, with Steve Peterson the student manager. Thompson has pitched the last two years in the Washington Senators' chain and will report for his next pro baseball assignment when school is out.

Pepitone Sees Chance In First Base Switch

. . . JOE FEELS NEW ROLE WILL HELP

Fort Lauderdale, Fla. (AP) — Joe Pepitone, a member in good standing of the mod generation, is going where the action is.

And for Pepitone, whose hair has grown longer while his batting average has become smaller over the last two years, that's first base.

"I like first base," Pepitone said frankly as he talked about his new role with the New York Yankees. "Since I moved to the outfield I haven't had good years. You're in the game more at first base.

There are some critics who will say the 28-year-old Pepitone isn't in the game even at first base; that he just isn't with it enough out on the field. But Pepitone's records support his contention.

In 1966, his last season at first base, Pepitone hit .255 with 31 homers and 83 runs batted in. Then, he was switched to center so that Mickey Mantle could move in to play first. Pepitone followed with a 1967 season in which he hit only 13 homers and drove in 64 runs while hitting .251.

The 1968 season wasn't much better as Pepitone hit 15 homers and drove across 56 runs while putting together a .245 average.

But now, with Mantle retired, Pepitone not only can put his first baseman's mitt back on but possibly try to follow in Mantle's footsteps as the No. 1 slugger for the Yankees.

"I think there's a big difference for me when I'm playing first base," Pepitone explained. "At first you're in on almost every play; you have to think baseball, think baseball all the time. You can't have any mental lapses.

"In center field you find yourself thinking about everything but baseball. You can stand out there a whole game and never have a ball hit to you. If you have little problems — financial, marriage, whatever — you're going to be thinking about them."

Pepitone also fully realizes what Mantle's retirement means to the Yankees, both as a hitting star and a gate attraction.

"I think Mantle's retirement could be good for me." Pepitone admitted frankly. "I'll have to bear down a little more. It's a big opportunity for me. I know the Yankees need a good year from me and they need a name.

"It's a big chance for me to make some big money. If I can do it, I know they'll be happy to pay it to me."

Mando Ramos Named Month's Top Fighter

New York (AP) — Mando Ramos, newly crowned lightweight champion from Long Beach, Calif., was named Fighter of the Month by Ring Magazine Wednesday for dethroning Teo Cruz of the Dominican Republic in a title bout in Los Angeles.

Mexico's Efren Torres rated just behind Ramos for his victory over Thailand's Chartchai Chionoi in a flyweight title fight in Mexico City.

Freehan Not Detroit's Only Wednesday Loss

. . . FOURTH STRAIGHT SETBACK SUFFERED

By Associated Press

The loss by injury of All-Star catcher Bill Freehan wasn't the only loss suffered by the world champion Detroit Tigers Wednesday.

The Tigers also suffered their fourth straight exhibition baseball setback as a sixth-inning home run by rookie Darrel Chaney gave Cincinnati a 4-3 win over Detroit at Tampa, Fla.

Freehan suffered a broken nose and multiple facial lacerations when he was hit by a pitched ball in batting practice at Lakeland prior to Wednesday's game.

Physicians said Freehan would be sidelined for an indefinite period.

Brooks Robinson hit a first inning grand slam homer and Baltimore went on to beat Pittsburgh 8-5 at Bradenton, Fla.

Bill Singer and Claude Osteen combined to pitch Los Angeles to a 3-0 shutout victory over St. Louis, the NL champs, at Vero Beach, Fla.

A two-run homer by Frank Fernandez in the seventh inning gave the New York Yankees a 3-2 victory over Atlanta at West Palm Beach and four hits by Bill Melton paced the Chicago White Sox over Kansas City 5-1 at Fort Myers, Fla.

Cleon Jones drove in four runs for the New York Mets on a three-run homer and a single as the Mets downed Philadelphia 5-4 at St. Petersburg for their fifth straight victory.

In other games Boston exploded for seven runs in the fourth and walloped Houston 13-1, Minnesota beat Washington 6-4, San Francisco whipped Seattle 9-4, California edged San Diego 6-5, the Chicago Cubs snapped Cleveland's nine-game winning streak 10-7, and the New York Yankees B team beat Montreal 5-4.

Use Of Equal Rights Unit Urged

Omaha (AP) —The chairman of the State Equal Employment Opportunity Commission announced plans Wednesday for a public relations campaign designed to stimulate individuals to seek commission help in discrimination cases.

R. D. Andersen said people have been afraid to consult the commission because of possible reprisals or lack of adequate commission support.

Andersen said the commission will aid in cases of discrimination because of race, national origin, sex or religion, adding that discrimination due to age falls under the jurisdiction of the state employment agencies.

Included in the program, he said, would be the use of billboards reading: "There ought to be a law against discrimination and there is."

He assured individuals that the commission can bring court charges which provide punishment on conviction if harrassment follows court action on discrimination cases.

Subpoena Power

Andersen said the commission has the power to subpoena a person or firm to court and discrimination cases can be carried as far as the U.S. Supreme Court.

The commission meeting Wednesday at the Calvin Memorial Presbyterian Church, was part of the program to make citizens aware of the commission's availability, Andersen said.

He also announced that the commission will build a headquarters in Omaha to be completed this summer.

Davis Trial Coverage Ranged From 'Phenomenal To Tragic'

By CRAIG CALLAWAY
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Omaha — The quality of press coverage of the recent Thomas F. Davis murder trial in Grand Island ranged from phenomenal to tragic, according to attorney John Mitchell of Omaha, whose client Davis was convicted by the trial jury o killing his wife.

Mitchell, speaking Wednesday at the annual meeting of the Nebraska Associated Press Broadcasters Association, suggested that media members take better care to avoid bringing pre-conceived notions to legal matters and to strive for more accuracy.

The lack of such pre-conceived ideas, the existence of accuracy in reporting and the basic knowledge of law should be an integral part of each reporter covering serious legal matters, Mitchell suggested.

Mitchell, though not naming the Omaha World-Herald himself, referred to the "poison pen" of a reporter for a certain "well known metropolitan daily in Nebraska with a large circulation." He cited examples of the reporting he referred to and made it plain that his opinion on that coverage was not high.

Mitchell did name the Grand Island Daily Independent saying it did a "phenomenal job" of covering the trial. He rated the Lincoln Star and Lincoln Journal as having made a "very conscientious effort" of Davis trial coverage.

Coroner's Inquest

To the broadcasters Mitchell asked "where were you" when the Hall County attorney's office closed the coroner's inquest last August at which Davis was first indicted. The medium made no fuss, Mitchell said, until he asked the Hall County court to close the preliminary hearing in November.

Mitchell backed himself up with justification for having that hearing closed by reading from the American Bar Association's controversial Reardon report.

Free Day Care Plan Is Endorsed

A proposal to provide free day care services for families receiving Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) funds was endorsed by the Lincoln Community Council board of directors Wednesday.

The Woods Charitable Fund has already agreed to make a grant for 15% of the day care program's cost, reported George R. Kailey. He is director of Family Service Association, which will sponsor the project.

The Woods grant will be used as matching funds to obtain federal money from the U.S. Children's Bureau through the State Department of Child and Family Services.

Kailey told the council board that day care services for 60 three, four and five-year-old children had originally been estimated to cost $100,000 per year. However, recent information about federal food programs and purchase of equipment will reduce the cost, he said.

He indicated that the day care program, planned to include focus on the emotional, physical and educational growth of the child, would probably cost about $5 per day per child.

The service, from 7 a.m.-6 p.m. will be free for children in ADC families, according to Kailey. At least 40 of the 60 eligible must be ADC children. Children enrolled other than those in ADC families would be charged on a sliding scale, he said.

The service, offered primarily for children in southwest Lincoln, will be housed at Trinity Methodist Church, 16th and A Sts., if approved.

Prices Rise Again In Stock Market

New York (AP) — The stock market advanced again Wednesday to keep its latest rally alive for another day.

The Dow Jones industrial average pushed ahead from the start, and by 12:30 EST it was ahead 5.79 points. It lost some ground after that, however, and finished the day with a gain of 4.73 points at 912.11.

The performance was similar to Tuesday's when the Dow, which opened the week with a tiny loss, gained 5.84 points before sliding back to close 3.35 points ahead.

Advances led declines from the start Wednesday and never were headed. Of 1,553 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 820 advanced and 461 declined. New highs for 1968-69 totaled 13 and new lows 40.

Volume came to 9.74 million shares compared with Tuesday's turnover of 11.21 million shares.

Reports that secret peace talks in the Vietnam war were under way were credited by brokers for part of the day's shove to the upside. Favorable economic news, such as the personal income gain posted in February, also was cited.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 2.1 to 334.0, with industrials up 2.0, rails up 1.8, and utilities up 1.0.

Fourteen of the 20 most-active stocks on the New York exchange showed gains 3 losses, and 3 unchanged.

Texas Gulf Sulphur, most active on 309,500 shares, was unchanged at 30¼.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange generally were higher, with 17 of the 2 most-active issues up, 2 lower, and 1 unchanged.

Heifers Score 10-Year High At Omaha

Omaha (AP) — The upward spiral in beef cattle values ran into little if any opoosition on the Omaha market Wednesday.

Fed heifers scored a 10-year high while steers settled for a seven-year peak as buyers vied for numbers. It was a matter of being at the gate first with the top dollar.

Generally, steers and heifers sold 25 cents higher, some few sales steers 50 cents advanced in active bargaining.

Selected choice steer beef hit 47.50 here Tuesday, bulk less 46.25-47.50 for 600-900 lb. carcasses. Choice heifer beef sold up to 46.00.

A load of high-choice to prime 1,275 lb. beeves captured 31.25, highest here since November, 1962. Comparable quality 1,070 lb. averages earned 31.00.

Good demand for limited hog supplies sparked a steady to mostly 25 cent, instances 50 cent higher trade. Sows were strong to mostly 25 cents up.

Butcher top moved up 22.00 for a short 100 head selected 210-225 lb. offering. Bulk 200-240 lbs. 21.25-21.75, uneven offerings down to 20.75 and underweights to a low of 20.50. Weights over 260 lbs. were scarce, quotable on downward to around 19.50, sows bunched at 18.00-19.50.

Fat lambs were quotably steady. Supplies were limited.

No 'Great General Gripe' Found At Town Meetings

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Fairbury — Halfway through a series of 13 town hall meetings this week, gubernatorial counsel Robert Barnett observed here Wednesday night that Nebraskans "seem to have no great general gripe."

He made the comment following appearances with a nine-member government panel at Seward, York, Geneva, Hebron and Wilber. Fairbury's crowd of 50, diminished by rain, was the smallest of sessions which have attracted up to 130 persons.

"People aren't focusing on any particular subject but are showing a healthy interest in a variety of issues," the young attorney said.

Fairbury's two-hour exploration, for example, spanned such subjects as student demonstrations, the use of 2-4D and the proposed expressway system. State Tax Commissioner Murrell McNeil and Dave McLaughlin, highway safety director, fielded more than their share of questions.

Regarding Gov. Norbert Tiemann's views on service taxes, Barnett said the governor is opposed because of "the adverse effects on those least able to pay." Mentioned were such possibilities as a haircut, medical service and plumbing taxes.

"There may be a way to tax services that isn't regressive, but so far it hasn't been found," said Barnett.

McNeil pointed out that Nebraska sale taxes ranked among the lowest per capita in the nation. Both the sales and income rates are near the bottom, he said, and "as a combination, certainly no state is lower."

Noting that alcohol is involved in at least 50% of highway accidents, McLaughlin said his department is plugging the use of police devices which test the breath for alcoholic content. The motor vehicles inspection law was defended for saving both lives and federal aid funds.

Regarding stopsign placement at the junction of Highways 15 and 136, a local matter prompting criticism of the State Roads Department, officials said U.S. 136 traffic will continue to stop pending further construction on that route. The signs, which were switched twice following a fatal accident, will then be changed again.

Meetings are scheduled Thursday at Pawnee City, Humboldt and Falls City, respectively at 10 a.m., 2 p.m., and 7:30 p.m. Friday sessions at the same times will be in Tecumseh, Auburn and Nebraska City.

Back To School

Washington (UPI) — The wives and widows GI bill has sent more than 200 women back to school since it took effect Dec. 1, the Veterans Administration said. Eligible to participate are wives of veterans with permanent and total service-connected disabilities and widows of men killed in service who do not remarry.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

One letter simply stands for another in this example, A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. If is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
